Foreword

WHEN the drifting mists of time have enveloped our college years; when the exploits and experiences of the present have become but fading memories; when we sit before the glowing embers, watching the lazily curling smoke circle upward, dreaming alone in the twilight;—then may we find in this Index those things for which it was written:—companionship in solitude, consolation in disillusionment, and “Just a Memory.”

Because we recognize the worth of the man; because we admire the intellectuality of the teacher; because we appreciate the diligence and magnanimity and humanitarianism of the real student; we

The Class of 1929

respectfully dedicate this, our Index, to one whom we deem to be the embodiment of these virtues:

Alexander Anderson Mackimmie

Alexander Anderson Mackimmie

ALEXANDER ANDERSON MACKIMMIE was born in Nova Scotia, of Scotch parents, and studied in the public schools of Nova Scotia, until he was sixteen. At this early age he began to teach school, inspired perhaps by the same urge for the dissemination of learning which prompted Duncan Ross, his grandfather, to found the first school in Durham, and which impelled James Ross, a kinsman and the first president of Dalhousie College to strive so hard for the kindling of the fire of knowledge. For six years did Professor Mackimmie teach school, laboring over his books in the same persistent way which has characterized him all his life,—and then an opportunity for foreign travel presented itself to him. The next three years were spent in the South of Europe and so precise was the observation of the student-traveller that European History loses its drabness and takes on a new fulgency when Professor Mackimmie makes the subject live and breath, by his tales of his travels in Northern Africa, or Italy, or Spain.

But at the end of three years he returned to the New World, and the fall of 1903 found him at Princeton, and a member of the Sophomore class. Three years later he graduated from Princeton with the degree of Bachelor of Arts, magna cum laude and the reward of the Boudinot fellowship in modern languages for 1907.

For the next two years Professor Mackimmie taught at Truro Academy, but in 1908 he came back to the state and town where he was to make his home for many years and began to teach at M. A. C. as instructor in French. In 1909-10 he served as assistant to the Acting Dean and in 1911 he received his appointment as assistant professor of French.

Professor Mackimmie, the student, was as yet unsatisfied and in 1914 he received his degree of Master of Arts from Columbia University. A year later he was made associate professor of French, a position which he held until 1919 when he was appointed Professor of French. Even then, however, the quest for learning proved dominant, and in 1922 he studied in Spain. As a result of his labors he received the Diploma de Competencia, Centro de Estudios Historicos, Madrid. It is a most unusual and difficult task for a man who has taught for many years to begin to teach an entirely new subject, and yet Mackimmie showed again his tremendous versatility when, in 1924 he was appointed Professor of Economics, and thus forsook his languages for laws of living. Two years later he was made head of the Division of Humanities here at the Massachusetts Agricultural College.

This then is the abbreviated history of one of the most popular professors on our campus. A sketchy biography such as this is wholly incompetent and useless, for nothing of the personality of the man is in evidence. One cannot say in a few words that, which would of necessity take pages, if it were to be said well.

Twelve years ago another Index was dedicated to Professor Mackimmie, and in that Index, Professor Hasbrouck, perhaps the most revered professor that our campus has ever seen, wrote of him,

"to him all men are brothers, and his sympathy extends from the student who needs his help to the Italian laborer who has learned to watch for the Professor and to expect his 'buon giorno,' a welcome echo from the home country."

"Alike, all who know Professor Mackimmie honor him as the scholar par excellence, as the friend tried and proven."

In the twelve years which have elapsed since this tribute was paid to Professor Mackimmie many things have happened which have firmly implanted his name in the annals of pleasant memories for "Aggie" undergraduates. His classes are not hours of boredom, or dragging irritating lectures. When he takes charge of a class he seems to have the power of interesting the most indolent in the very stuffiest of rooms. His courses are not courses in Economics but rather, are summaries of the experience of life. One who studies under Professor Mackimmie learns, not merely the subject being taught, but also an appreciation of the great in art and literature and life. As one student said, "If you want to go to Europe and are broke and will be for the rest of your life, take a course in history with Mackimmie. You'll know more about Europe at the end of the course than if you want yourself." And this is representative of student opinion on the entire campus.

We have dedicated this Index to Professor Mackimmie because we realize his breadth of outlook; his scholarly attainments; his fascinating personality; his knowledge of the unusual; his marvelous memory; his depth of character; his optimistic philosophy; but most of all because he is not only a learned scholar; but also an ideal humanitarian and a student of life.

THE FACULTY

Roscoe Wilfred Thatcher

AT the close of the last college year, it was announced by the Board of Trustees that Roscoe Wilfred Thatcher had been appointed President of the College. We were told that our beloved "Prexy" Lewis was going to the University of New Hampshire. Who, we asked, is this man to whom our glorious standard has been intrusted? And well we might ask, for great, indeed, must be the man who was to measure up to our fine heritage.

The curious soon learned about President Thatcher's lineage and earlier career. He was born and bred of sturdy pioneer stock. His grandfather went from Lynn, shortly after the Civil War, to join in the great sweep of emigration westward. While journeying to the land of promise, he unexpectedly met death, so leaving to a young boy, President Thatcher's father, the whole responsibility of carrying on in this unknown land. By dint of constant struggle and toil, a farm was built up in Ohio, and on this farm in 1872 President Thatcher was born. His boyhood there was filled with continuous hard work and trial. After a rather pieced together elementary education, he, by means of ambition and sheer will to win, managed to procure enough high school training in Nebraska, to which his family had moved, to enable him to matriculate in the University of Nebraska. He was graduated from there in 1898. At once he embarked upon the course which, after thirty-five years of experience as a student, a faculty member, and administrator, was to lead to the presidency of M. A. C. His actual practical experience coupled with his control in executive positions has peculiarly fitted President Thatcher to understand and help solve the great problems in the sphere of both agriculture and education. He rose steadily from one position to another, finally serving as Dean of the Department of Agriculture of the University of Minnesota and later as Director of the two Agricultural Experiment Stations of New York. From the splendid work that he was doing in New York, M. A. C. called him to her campus.

Then gradually, we learned first-hand about the personality and characteristics of our new "Prexy." We made his acquaintance in assemblies, in chapels, at social gatherings, and then best of all on October 28, 1927, inauguration day. We have learned to rejoice in his strength as a leader, his scholarly attainments, his poise, his facility of expression through which he imparts his ideas clearly and forcefully. His convincing sincerity, his moral courage, and educational vision stand out as the three brilliant lights by which we are to be guided. A man who prefers to "meet issues squarely," "to state unequivocally" his position or convictions, who has the highest ideals of education both as "liberal and practical," and who radiates an atmosphere of sympathetic understanding and genial good comradeship, is the man who now heads our institution. We feel that as long as men of his calibre are chosen to fill our positions of authority, ever will our standard fly proudly in the sky.

Dr. Charles Edward Marshall

DR. CHARLES EDWARD MARSHALL was born on a farm near Port Clinton, Ottawa County, Ohio, on October 6th, 1866. With this beginning and with a sturdy line of ancestors back of him one might have predicted from the start that strong, reliable, forceful character which he developed. Here he grew to young manhood, working on the farm and attending the local schools until he was about eighteen years of age when he entered the State Normal School at Fredonia, New York, where he graduated in 1889. Following this he was principal of the Academy at Ellicottsville, New York, for two years and then entered the University of Michigan intending to study medicine, but after two years he became so much interested in bacteriology that he changed his major to that science. He graduated with the class of 1895 with the degree of Ph.B. and received his Doctor's degree from that University in 1902.

It is interesting but not surprising to note Dr. Marshall's steady professional advancement from one position to another. He was appointed Assistant in Bacteriology at the University of Michigan in 1893 and in 1899 went to the Michigan Experiment Station at East Lansing as Bacteriologist. In 1902 he became Professor of Bacteriology and Hygiene in the Michigan Agricultural College which position he held for ten years when he came to the Massachusetts Agricultural College as Professor of Bacteriology and Director of the Graduate School.

Three times Dr. Marshall visited Europe for graduate work. In 1898 he studied at Jorgensen's Laboratory in Copenhagen; in 1903 at Pasteur Institute, Paris and at Ostertag's Laboratory, Berlin; and in 1913 at Koch Laboratory Berlin.

He was among those able lieutenants whom President Kenyon L. Butterfield called to assist him in the work of developing the Massachusetts Agricultural College during the greatest period of growth which this College has ever seen, and as Director of the Graduate School he did a splendid piece of work in organizing, expanding and systematizing that part of the activities of this college.

Dr. Marshall was the author of a notable text book in his special field entitled "Outlines of Bacteriology" and wrote many bulletins and scientific papers. He was also president of the Society of American Bacteriologists in 1914 and a member of many other scientific organizations.

Dr. Marshall's friendly interest in all those with whom he came in contact, his high ideals, devotion to duty, and solicitude for everything which concerned the welfare of the community in which he lived endeared him to all. But to fully appreciate his character one must have tramped with him over the hills of New England, or rowed with him on Lake Sunapee, one must have played golf with him or fished with him or have sat with him of an evening in front of an open fire! It was under such circumstances as these that one learned to know a side of his character which comparatively few saw, but which all those who were privileged to see will hold in their memories as one of the choice things of this life.

The Aim of the Division of the Humanities

THE aim of the Division of the Humanities at the Massachusetts Agricultural College is to maintain its heritage from the past and to advance in usefulness to the student as the college itself advances, and within the bounds determined by the Trustees. It is not unmindful of the fact that this college has never succumbed to vocational demands to the exclusion of humanistic culture. The fine old word "Humanities," so little used in American colleges and so long used in this one, reveals the quality of the college interest in culture.

The Division does not forget that Latin was a part of the curriculum at this college, up almost to Dean Lewis's day. It remembers with pride the many graduates who have gone from this college to teach languages, literatures, and social relations in high schools and private schools, or the number of its graduates who have pursued graduate study at Harvard and other Universities, or the graduates who are now instructors or fellows in these subjects in other colleges.

The Department of Languages and Literatures in this Division appreciates the fact that President Goodell, President Lewis, and Dean Mills were heads of the Department and conferred not merely recognition on the Division but enduring honor. This official recognition reveals also that the Division has not gone beyond its proper scope within the aim of the college. Thus the heritage of the past is precious to the Division.

Never has the Division been unaware that this college occupies a peculiar place in the educational system of Massachusetts. By its charter bound to give a "liberal and practical education," this college finds its unique field in instruction for pursuits related to Agriculture, but has thruout its history developed to the highest efficiency in that field without at any time omitting the liberal subjects taught in other colleges. And not only this Division but other divisions have assisted the cultural aim of the college. This Division remembers the inspiring humanistic teaching of men like Clarke, Goessman, Wellington, Hasbrouck, and Marshall.

The Division aims to reveal the changing ideals that dominated different periods and sent peoples and their literatures to grandeur or decay. It would bring students into companionship with the great spirits of the past who have done the great deeds and sung the great songs and uttered the inspiring words, by which men and women shape their lives. It would reveal such a knowledge of the past as would enable us "to form just calculations with respect to the future." It seeks to enable men and women to express themselves in speech effectively and it may even now and then free imprisoned talent!

In history and social studies, in languages, literature and music it seeks to respond to the needs of those who are to earn a living but also to live. The large number of students interested in both the services rendered in the Division seems to show that it meets the same demand that exists in other colleges.

Among the Alumni in Humanities

TO have conferred degrees upon 2,163 men and women and to have admitted some 5,000 students in all to its portals of learning during the past sixty years, and yet, not to have produced at M. A. C. a graduate who has been an outstanding national figure in humanities, may indeed seem strange to some.

There have been no great historians, no noted novelists, playwrights, or poets, who may claim M. A. C. their Alma Mater. And why? Simply because Aggie has devoted her time and energies in strict accordance with the provisions of her charter. She has been busily engaged in producing leaders in agriculture, scientific research, business, and education. Many significant achievements and important movements in these fields are attributable to the endeavors of M. A. C. graduates. Those who have followed the first three fields are not interested primarily in the humanities. The field of research unquestionably belongs to the scientist, in which M. A. C. alumni are numerous.

Education, on the other hand, is in the field of humanities. It is a popular vocation among the graduates of other colleges and universities, and the alumni of M. A. C. are no exception to the rule. This fact is shown in a recent survey relating to the occupation of M. A. C. alumni in which that of a teacher rates as second, being headed only by farmers. This survey included only M. A. C. graduates of known occupation, of which there were 1,624. A summary of the five leading occupations of alumni as shown by the survey shows their relative popularity:

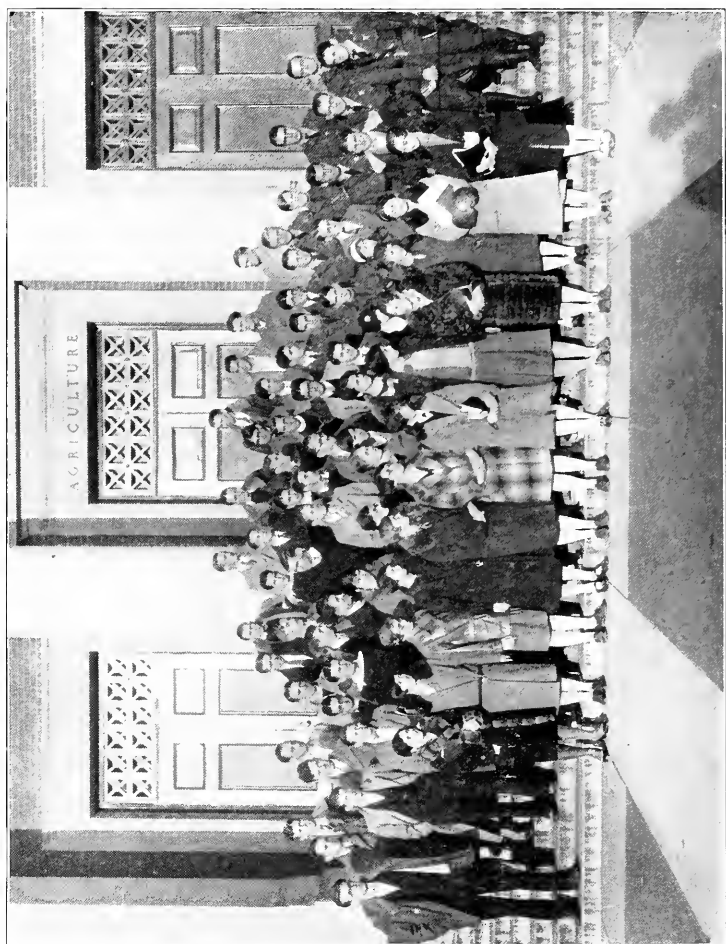

Farmers	351
Teachers	310
Industrial workers	307
Scientists	189
Agricultural engineers	99

In addition to the above, one must class with the alumni in humanities those 29 who are authors, artists and journalists, and 15 who are engaged in teaching English in colleges and secondary schools. Aggie numbers among her more noted alumni the following who are or have been leaders in the educational and literary fields:

Charles S. Howe '78, college president
Joseph L. Hills '81, college dean
Herbert Myrick '82, publisher and editor (deceased)
Edwin W. Allen '85, editor
Frederick A. Merrill '89, author
Arthur C. Monahan '00, educator
Bernhard Ostrolenk '11, educator.

Senior Class History

THE year of 1928 marks the final lap of our four years journey in this, our "Pilgrim's Progress." What a wonderful experience it has been for us, too! What narrow escapes some of us have had in our travels avoiding the dangers lurking in the Valley of Low Marks, the threats of the Chemistry Goblins, the Zoology Sharks, and whatever other weird shapes have ever haunted our journey. Others of our number have tracked these creatures to their very lairs, coming out victorious conquerors, thus distinguishing themselves in the Field of Scholarship. Still others have made their fame in the Realm of Athletics. With our combined forces, we have staged victorious combats with opposing bands, such as the Strugglers of '29. In short, we feel that the time spent in these past four years has been filled with worthy pursuits and has given us strength and courage with which to continue on our way.

And yet, it is a queer feeling which each one of us experiences now as we try to realize that for the future, it will lie in the power of each one of us to prove the strength which we have gained, and to so forge ahead by ourselves.

Thus we look to the future with feelings of regret mingled with anticipation, feelings of reluctance, yet a hope that we may show ourselves worthy of our Alma Mater.

Another Class has come and gone,
Another game is played and won;
The future's colored rose and gold,
The past is splendid to behold;
Success achieved at Aggie here,
Will surely grow from year to year.

Flushed by their conquest, another class is about to sally from our portals. The portcullis of professorial surveillance will drop behind them—they shall canter across the Stygian moat of ignorance—out into the world. And we regret to see you go. Enemies you were once,—friends you are now; conquerors, when we were Frosh; companions when we are Juniors. Though you leave our college and ourselves,—to face the struggle of life with the same indomitable determination with which you came to Aggie four short years ago,—yet bide with us awhile—at least in memory. And when the time shall come that you will scan reminiscently our year book, think of us,—your friends and may there be companionship in that memory.

TO YOU '28—May success attend you, good fortune guard you and the gods of Chance be your footmen. Some day we will meet in common—'28 and '29 in the distant future just for "Auld Lang Syne." We'll say farewell and wish you luck in just the way you want us to.

SO LONG FELLOWS—BEST O' LUCK.

The Builder

Like a cathedral,
Seeking the sky,
Would that my life
Might tower on high.

But ere I begin
To build the spire.
I must dig deep,
In the mud and the mire.

I must delve away
Till I strike bed-rock;
There lay a foundation
No tremor can shock.

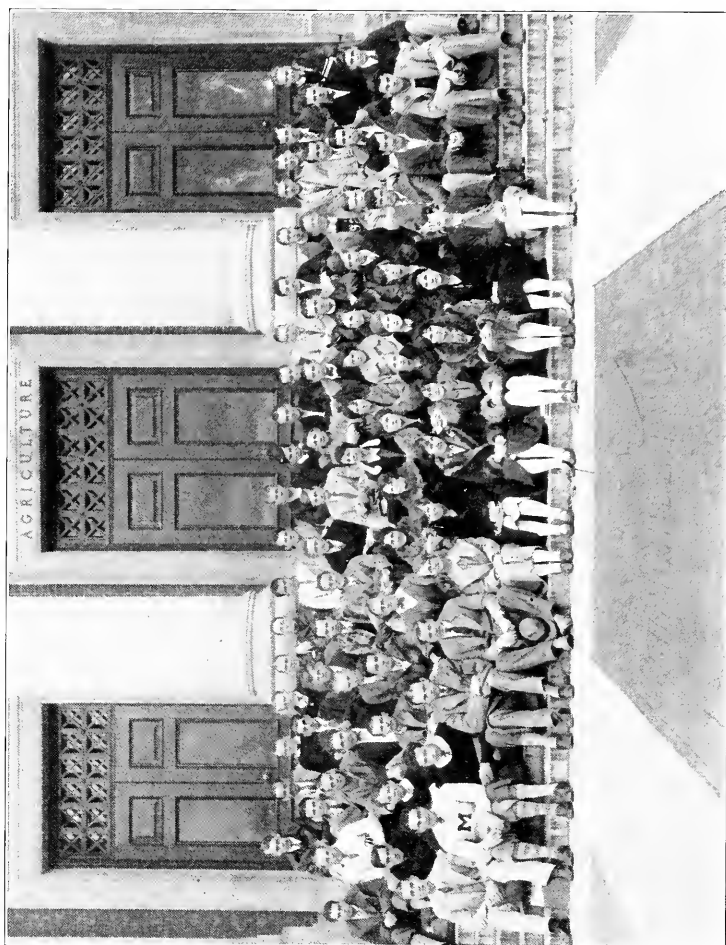

Stone after stone,
Firm and secure,
Beauty unfolds,—
Lofty, and pure.

Past the rose window,
No blemish to mar.
At last, on the top
A cross,—and a star.

Joyfully eager to Aggie we came,
 Uniting together to bring our class fame.
 Nobly we pulled o'er the pond on the rope.
 Invading the Soph's haughty precincts of hope.
 Overcame them in football, in ring and on mat,
 Rejoicing so much we were mostly high-hat.

Changing old Fate in the night played us dirt—
 Leading the Sophs in the march of the shirt
 Anon though, we scrapped and we suffered and swore,
 Showing our manhood in banquet scrap war.
 Soon found we out we were Freshmen no more.

Highly elated outspread we our wings,
 Insisting that '30 should know we were kings.
 Swiftly in football and drill hall they found
 That we with the victory always were crowned.
 Or being defeated, we hope we did right—
 Regarding not glory, but joy in the fight.
 Years yet to be, we await you with light!

WILLIAM BRUNNER ROBERTSON

1904; Floriculture; Class President (1, 2, 3); Senate (2, 3); Interfraternity Conference, Secretary (3); Varsity Baseball, Squad (2); Class Baseball (2); Class Basketball (1, 2, 3); Phi Sigma Kappa.

There are some folks we meet, as we travel along
Whom we think of at once as our friends
But we soon find their friendship is weak, and not strong
We give these friends up in the end.
There are others we meet as we wander thru life
Like "Robby" much harder to know
But it's friends just like him who will weather the strife
And be constant wherever we go.

1906; Entomology; Class Vice-President (3); Maroon Key, President (2); Varsity Track, Squad (2); Varsity Cross Country, Squad (2); Class Football (1, 2); Junior Prom Committee (3); Alpha Gamma Rho.

An athlete and student is "Stan"
A typical "Old Aggie Man".
At dances and teas
When "Stan" says "Oh please,"
The lady replies—"If I can."

It's great to call "Betty" a friend,
On whom we can always depend.
She has worthy ideals,
And in all things reveals
A spirit we highly commend.

He plays a conspicuous role
In M. A. C. life on the whole,
In class, it's his voice,
At dances, "his choice,"
In football, 'tis sometimes the goal.

"When Spring with dewy fingers cold,

There's nothing like dry witticism,
When its source is a pure optimism.
Tho he's never polite,
You cannot say quite,
That he's nothing but "Red" barbarism.

HAROLD SWEETMAN ADAMS
Whitinsville, Mass. Northbridge High School

1907; Animal Husbandry; Interfraternity Conference (3); Varsity Track, Squad (2); Varsity Football, Assistant Manager (3); Alpha Gamma Rho.

As manager of football,
"Dick" Adams will be great.
The rest of us will use our gall,
And try and crash the gate,
While he parades around next fall
As if he had a date.

STEPHEN ADAMS
Northampton, Mass. Smith Agricultural School

1906; Dairying; Kappa Gamma Phi.

Quiet and likeable, smiling and strong.
He isn't seen much but he loops right along
In his studies, and someday he surely will be
A wrestling farmer, as we all can see.

FRANCIS DANIELS ALBERTI
Greenfield, Mass. Greenfield High School

1906; Landscape Gardening; Maroon Key (2); M. A. C. Glee Club (1).

"Al" is an artist supreme,
And under his gentle regime
His textbooks begin
To look far less grim,
With ladies whose shapes are a scream.

ARMOND LOVELL ARNURIUS

Another transfer to our class
To swell the tide of students.
We hope he'll stick with us and pass
We hope he'll cut with prudence.

CHARLES WESLEY BARR

Pittsburgh, Penn.

Dormont High School

1906; Landscape Gardening; Maroon Key (2); Lambda Chi Alpha.

A connoisseur of landscape art
Is Charles, who plays a noble part
In making many a splendid chart
Of beautiful parks;
And so, his marks
Bear witness to his wit, so tart.

IRENE LAWRENCE BARTLETT

Rowley, Mass.

Brattleboro High School

1906; Entomology; Girls' Glee Club (1); Prom Play (1); Commencement Show (1); Index, Statistics Editor (3); Women's Athletic Association (3).

In drama she's great for her part,
Tho the library claims her best art;
She's faithful all thru,
In the least thing she'll do,
And she'll finish, or else will not start.

IRA SPAULDING BATES

1906; Entomology; Glee Club Orchestra (2); Alpha Gamma Rho.

It may be, that Ira could not hold a candle
To Chopin and Mozart and Weber and Handel
But this much is certain—whatever you say
To us he's the best
And wonderfulest
That Old Aggie's seen here in many a day.

CARL AUGUSTUS BERGAN

Northampton, Mass. Hotchkiss School

1905; Agricultural Education; Varsity Cross Country, Letter Man (3); M. A. C. C. A. Cabinet (3); Collegian (1, 2); M.A.C. Glee Club (2); Kappa Sigma.

Tho' perhaps not as swift as old Hermes of yore
Carl Bergan can travel quite fast—then some more.
He's a Cross Country captain—and also "Joe Smooth"
An Aggie Beau Brummel—a Phoebeus forsooth.

EDITH LOUISE BERTENSHAW

Fall River, Mass. B. M. C. Durfee High School

1908; Agricultural Education; Girls' Glee Club (2, 3); Index (3); Delta Phi Gamma.

A grace and charm which few possess,
A smile for all who pass;
To dance with "Dutch,"
Or ride with "Brud"
Are joys that none surpass.

CHESLEY LEMAN BLACK

Reading, Mass.

Reading High School

1906; Animal Husbandry; Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Sometime the day will surely come
When all our classmates, we shall see
Successful, and of all these, some
Will reach the top and one will be
"Blackie," and we'll be glad 'tis he.

MATTHEW LOUIS BLAISDELL

Ashfield, Mass.

1905; Farm Management; Varsity Track, Squad (2); M. A. C.

A little can of dynamite,
A chap that's full of grit and fight.
These things are "Pat"
A heart as true as tempered steel
A mind that could not hate conceal,
These things has "Matt."

This blonde headed "Bud" is so tall
He looks o'er the heads of us all
That bright winning smile
Wins friends by the mile
For such a man life cannot pall.

JAMES EATON BOND, JR.

South Lancaster, Mass. Lancaster High School

1907; Pomology; Alpha Gamma Rho.

He's adept at sharp criticism
We laugh at his dry witticism,
He's long and he's lean
And not often seen
Whenever he is there's a schism.

ROBERT LESTER BOWIE

Milton, Mass.

Milton High School

1905; Landscape Gardening; Varsity Baseball, Letter Man (2); Varsity Football, Letter Man (2, 3); Class Baseball (1); Class Football (1); Q. T. V.

Lazy and indolent—witty and bright,
He gets along fine without grinding at night.
A varsity pitcher—a varsity end
A long, lanky, laggard, and most worthwhile friend.

FLOYD EARLE BRACKLEY

Strong, Me.

Kent's Hill Seminary

1905; Farm Management; Varsity Football, Letter Man (2, 3); Class Football (1); Alpha Sigma Phi.

If Brackley can fight on the gridiron of life,
The way that he has here at college,
He'll be at the top after all of the strife,
In business, science, or knowledge.

EMORY DWIGHT BURGESS

Melrose, Mass.

Melrose High School

1907; Entomology; Joint Committee on Intercollegiate Athletics (3); Varsity Baseball, Manager (3); Glee Club Orchestra (2, 3); Phi Sigma Kappa.

The Glee Club can surely boast loudly of "Itchy"
Whose saxophone tickles your feet till they're "witchy"
But baseball, next springtime, will make him detested
Among all the freshmen whose peace he's molested.

ELEANOR CALDWELL

Amherst, Mass.

McPherson High School

1905; Agricultural Education; Girls' Glee Club (3); Prom Play (3).

Though "Mickey" we've known but a while,
We couldn't give up her sweet smile,
And the things she has already done;
Her versatile art,
And generous heart
A permanent place here have won.

GEORGE GRIDLEY CANNEY

South Hadley, Mass.

South Hadley High School

1909; Agricultural Education; Class Track (1, 2); Glee Club Orchestra (1, 2); Index (3); Alpha Sigma Phi.

Our "Gridley" is sure quite a whiz with a "sax"
Although as a student he's often times lax
We so like to hear him
His tunes will endear him
Though often our patience he sorely doth tax.

LAURENCE ADAMS CARRUTH
 Worcester, Mass. North High School

1907; Agricultural Education; M. A. C. Glee Club (2, 3);
 Collegian (1, 2, 3); Index (3); Kappa Epsilon.

This eminent hiker can sing like a lark
 (Altho it is said he refuses to "spark".)
 The Glee Club's his hobby, the "Outing" his pride
 We envy his steady bombastical stride.

JOHN SHORE CHADWICK
 Worcester, Mass. South High School

1906; Landscape Gardening; Joint Committee on Intercollegiate Athletics (3); Varsity Track, Assistant Manager (2), Manager (3); Rifle Team (1, 2, 3); Lambda Chi Alpha.

A sturdy mathematician,
 A well known statistician.
 An eminent and virile soldier boy,
 A manager of track,
 With the rifle he's a crack
 Tho they say with a co-ed he is coy.

ALICE STREETER CHAPIN
 Sheffield, Mass. Sheffield High School

1908; Agricultural Education; Girls' Glee Club (1, 2, 3); Delta
 Phi Gamma.

She is blessed with a calm, steady mind,
 A lady, in manners refined;
 And those who know "Al"
 Think she's quite a choice pal,
 With conscience and pleasure combined.

CHARLES SHEPLEY CLEAVES

Gardner, Mass.

Gardner High School

1907; Agricultural Education; Maroon Key (2); Varsity Track, Squad (2); M. A. C. Glee Club (2, 3); Collegian (2, 3); Soph-Senior Hop Committee (2); Phi Sigma Kappa.

A giant at jazzing is "Shep,"
A gentleman chuck full of pep
He's quite literary
The Collegian is very Much honored to share in his "rep."

CHARLES ROBERT CROFFORD CLEMENTS

Melrose, Mass.

Melrose High School

1907; Entomology; Class President (1); Maroon Key (2); Varsity Track, Letter Man (2); Varsity Football, Squad (2, 3); Class Football (2); Phi Sigma Kappa.

The soul of a poet, the heart of a man,
The face of Adonis, the mind of a Pan,
A star on the track team—a varsity end
A wonderful shiek, and unwavering friend.

HARRY ROLLASON COPSON

Easthampton, Mass.

Easthampton High School

1908; Chemistry; Q. T. V.

When curfew tolls the knell of parting day
Then Harry Copson wends his homeward way
To "Hamp", and there he crams in solitude
And o'er his books he will in quiet brood
And then next morn to us his work display.

ANDREW H. COUKOS

Lynn, Mass.

Essex County Agricultural School

1903; Agricultural Education; Varsity Track, Letter Man (2); Varsity Football, Squad (2); Varsity basketball, Squad (2, 3); Class Football (1); Class Basketball (1); Kappa Gamma Phi.

Carnegie's stepson is Andy,
At dancing he sure is a dandy
At football, at track,
As a "Hoopster"—in fact
At everything he's mighty handy.

DENNIS MICHAEL CROWLEY

Boston, Mass.

Jamaica Plain High School

1907; Floriculture; Class Sergeant-at-Arms (2, 3); Honor Council (2, 3); Varsity Football, Squad (2, 3); Class Football (1, 2); Varsity Debating Team (3); Index (3); Alpha Sigma Phi.

When you're lacking in vim and you need the punch
Of an understanding smile;
When you're down and out and you've got a hunch
That nothing in life's worth while;
Just go to a man who is really a man,
An athlete, a wit and a "Pal",
And "Denny" will offer the best that he can—
Then you won't mind your worries at all.

DONALD A. DAVIS

Carlisle, Mass.

Concord High School

1904; Agricultural Education; Varsity Track, Squad (2); Varsity Relay, Squad (3); Varsity Baseball, Squad (2); Varsity Football, Squad (2, 3).

This gentle young Junior named "Don"
In Bedford town came to be born,
He learned how to play
Football the way
That he does, by his motto—"Keep on."

WILLIAM ALBERT PALMER DAY

Watertown, Mass.

Watertown High School

1906; Landscape Gardening; M. A. C. Glee Club (1, 2, 3).

W. A. and P. and D.

An awful array of initials, you see,
To go with a man that's as quiet as he,
An artist who sings rather musically.

JOHN WARREN DEVINE

Arlington, Mass.

Arlington High School

1905; Agricultural Education; Varsity Hockey, Squad (3, 4); Alpha Gamma Rho.

John the Devine,
But this one's no saint.
A wonderful line,
A wit that's quite quaint.
If mischief you find
And he ain't—there ain't.

GEORGE WALLACE DUTTON

Carlisle, Mass.

Concord High School

1907; Chemistry; Varsity Cross Country, Squad (2); Alpha Gamma Rho.

It's possibly true that George Dutton could never
His love for his textbooks and hard courses sever,
It also is true that his ranking is high
In that way he's different from both you and I.

ARNOLD WALTON DYER
Falmouth, Mass. Phillips Exeter Academy

1906; Agricultural Economics; Honor Council (2); Interfraternity Conference (3); Index (3); Junior Prom Committee, Chairman (3); Soph-Senior Hop Committee (2); Theta Chi.

Out of the cranberry bogs of the East
"Pinkie" came here.
A prince of good fellows and not in the least
"High hat" or queer.
We wish him the best that this great world can give
Here's to "Joe Smooth" and long may he live.

WILLIAM GORDON EDSON
Braintree, Mass. Weymouth High School

1909; Animal Husbandry; Varsity Track, Squad (2).

He's way above the common herd.
It somehow seems to be absurd
To think of him by cares oppressed.
His mind's so far above the rest.

WILLIAM AMBROSE EGAN, JR.
Springfield, Mass. Technical High School

1907; Chemistry; Class Basketball, Manager (1); Collegian (1, 2, 3); Sigma Phi Epsilon.

An ardent clinic of our college paper—
He captures hearts with many a winsome caper.
The "Praying Shiek" they call him so I'm told
At winning loves he's clever and he's bold.

RUTH ADELAIDE FAULK

Brockton, Mass.

Brockton High School

1908; Landscape Gardening; Class Vice-President (1); Y. W. C. A. Cabinet (2, 3); Girls' Glee Club (1, 2); Women's Athletic Association, Council (3); Delta Phi Gamma.

A girl more practical than Ruth
 Cannot be found among our youth;
 Those sterling qualities within
 May sometime prove their power to win,
 For those who see things as they are
 Are born beneath a lucky star.
 Her friends,—she treats them all the same
 And asks for neither praise nor blame.

GEORGE BEMIS FLINT

Lincoln, Mass.

Deerfield Academy

1906; M. A. C. Glee Club (2, 3); Class Baseball (1); Cheer Leader (3); Q. T. V.

Not nearly as hard as his name makes him seem;
 He can shine like the sun and his brains often teem
 With unusual puns
 That are not like the one's
 That we hear everyday
 In the usual way.

MARTIN GOODMAN FONSECA

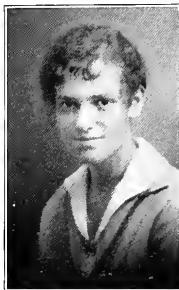

Brighton, Mass.

Ethical Culture School

1907; Floriculture; Interfraternity Conference (2, 3); M. A. C. Glee Club (1, 2, 3); Delta Phi Alpha.

The roses smile
 The violets weep
 Beneath this florist's touch.
 'Tis rare to see,—this carefree joy,
 These sparkling eyes and such.

MILDRED FONTAINE

Fall River, Mass.

B. M. C. Durfee High School

1908; Agricultural Education; Women's Athletic Association
(3); Delta Phi Gamma.

DISGUSTED with life? I guess not!
For "Charlie" has found the right spot.
And when you once know her
You'll live in a roar.
At jokes that her humor has caught.

CHARLES AUSTIN FROST

Belmont, Mass.

Belmont High School

1907; Agricultural Education; Phi Sigma Kappa.

There's one thing for which Charlie's famed,
And really he cannot be blamed.
He visits a co-ed.
You wish you were so-led?
But first you would have to be tamed.

ANTHONY LEWIS GAGLIARDUCCI

Springfield, Mass.

Technical High School

1906; Landscape Gardening; Varsity Football, Squad; Kappa Epsilon.

If I were a poet,—
I'm not and you know it,—
I'd write a sweet lyric about this man "Gag",
For his smile shines out brightly
He's game, good, and sprightly:
A sporty young hero—somewhat of a wag.

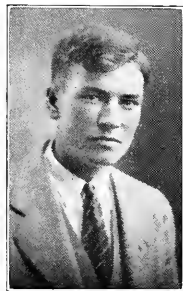

ARTHUR HALL GRAVES

Ashfield, Mass.

Sanderson Academy

1907; Floriculture; M. A. C. Glee Club (2, 3); M. A. C. Outing Club, Treasurer (3); Q. T. V.

Quiet and studious, usually smiling,
All his spare time with the Glee Club he's whiling,
Not effervescent, never morose,
He's too sincere to adopt any pose.

MARJORIE ALLERTON HAMMOND

Onset, Mass.

Natick High School

1908; Entomology; Delta Phi Gamma.

Though books for "Marg" hold small delight,
The Ent. Lab claims her day and night;
The stars peep in and find her still
Drawing insects with great skill.
The word that fits her least is "grind",
The word that fits her best is "kind".

GUILA GREY HAWLEY

Westfield, Mass.

Westfield High School

1907; Poultry Husbandry; Girls' Glee Club, Leader (3); Poultry Judging Team (3); Delta Phi Gamma.

'Tis said that things in parcels small
Are apt to be the best of all;
Now Guila is quite "La petite,"
And certainly is very sweet.
We like to see her "Bob" about
Coy miss, and quiet, but without
Her we'd be lost; her business eye,
Has seen good things for Delta Phi.

ROGER THOMAS HINTZE
Amherst, Mass. Calais Academy
1904; Agricultural Education; Kappa Sigma.

Then here's to our Jolly Roger
The pirate of "Ye Aggie Inn":—
The way that he captures our shekels
Is nothing much less than a sin.

TIMOTHY JOSEPH HORAN
Whitinsville, Mass. Northbridge High School

1906; Agricultural Education; Varsity Baseball, Squad (2);
Class Baseball (1); Class Basketball (1); Q. T. V.

There is a young Junior named "Tim"
Who wanders thru life with a vim
And a zest that's unusual
And he's quite musical,
An athlete and hermit—that's him.

FRANK IRVING HOWE, JR.
Norfolk, Mass. Needham High School

1906; Landscape Gardening; Varsity Baseball, Squad (2);
Varsity Football, Squad (2, 3); Class Baseball (1); Class
Football (1, 2); Class Hockey (1); Theta Chi.

This blond headed lightweight whom we know as "Bud"
Is as game as you'll find from New York to Jarvud.
He never says much—he just acts—that's enough.
His smiling good nature ne'er heard of a "Huff".

WALTER GORDON HUNTER

South Sudbury, Mass.

Sudbury High School

1907; Landscape Gardening; Varsity Track, Squad (2); Collegian (1, 2); Theta Chi.

It's odd, you know, how all these quiet boys
Refuse to worry over life's "annoys."
(The rhyming there you'll say is pretty tough)
About these chaps you can't say half enough.

MIRIAM HALL HUSS

Newton Centre, Mass.

Newton High School; Skidmore College

1906; Floriculture; Girls' Glee Club (1, 2, 3); Prom Play (3); Commencement Show (1); Women's Athletic Association (3); Delta Phi Gamma.

Gay "Midge" the bright star of our plays!
With her 'tis an art, not a craze.
And with men just the same,
QUITE an art, not a game;
Ingenuity finds many ways.

PAUL DWIGHT ISHAM

Hampden, Mass.

Central High School, Springfield

1906; Chemistry; M. A. C. Glee Club (1, 2, 3); Glee Club Orchestra (3); Q. T. V.

Out of the roster of old '28
Paul came to us—to be ranked with the great.
A pundit—a chemist—a grind(?)—well I wonder
But some day those acids will tear him asunder.

ALICE LUVANNE JOHNSON

Holden, Mass.

Holden High School

1907; Agricultural Education; Y. W. C. A. Cabinet (3); Girls' Glee Club (2, 3); Women's Athletic Association (3); Delta Phi Gamma.

As neat as a pin from tip to toe,
A tiny, quick step that says, "Just so",
A generous heart that makes no show,
That's Alice.

LEROY OSGOOD JONES

Greenfield, Mass.

Greenfield High School

1906; Landscape Gardening; Lambda Chi Alpha.

Up from the city of Greenfield he came Back he may go—but never the same
For the army and band
Took him by the hand,
At cavalry tactics he'll win his great fame.

MARY CATHERINE KANE

Holyoke, Mass.

Holyoke High School

1906; Agricultural Education; Women's Athletic Association (3); Delta Phi Gamma.

Our "Shrimp" is a jolly good friend,
Whose kindnesses never can end,
She takes great delight
In a basketball fight,
And religion she loves to defend.

JOHN REID KAY

Roslindale, Mass.

Jamaica Plain High School

1905; Landscape Gardening; Senate, Secretary (3); Honor Council (2, 3); Secretary (3); M. A. C. C. A. Cabinet (3); Varsity Track, Letter Man (2); Varsity Relay, Letter Man (2, 3); Class Track (1); Class Football (1); Informal Committee (3); Junior Prom Committee (3); Soph-Senior Hop Committee, Chairman (2); Kappa Sigma.

In the realm of athletics John Kay has his place
And he proves quite a master of dancing.
Wherever he goes, the smile on his face
Makes the fact of his presence entrancing.
And so we will hope that when schooldays are done
He'll find his true place, and will "rank with the sun".

CHARLES EDWARD KELLEY

Dalton, Mass.

Dalton High School

1906; Pomology; Class Football (1); Class Basketball (1, 2, 3); Phi Sigma Kappa.

If you could know
The gentle flow
Of humor, that is Kelley's,
You'd never be told
The world could hold
Such things as Machiavellies.

ASA FOSTER KINNEY

South Hadley, Mass.

South Hadley High School

1907; Landscape Gardening; Varsity Hockey, Squad (2, 3); Class Hockey (1, 2, 3); Kappa Sigma.

Isn't he funny?
Bright and sunny.
He can always make you laugh.
For it's Asa
Yes! and he's a
Chap whose health we'll surely quaff.

ROMAN ALBERT KREIENBAUM
Bridgewater, Mass. Bridgewater High School

1908; Chemistry; Interfraternity Conference (3); Varsity Track, Squad (2); Class Baseball (1); Class Football (1); Varsity Debating Team (2, 3); Index (3); Q. T. V.

"Once to every man and nation"
Class and any organization.
Comes a master mind.
He's a master at debating.
Some folks seem to like relating
That he's quite a grind.

WARREN HILLSGROVE LYMAN
Florence, Mass. Smith Agricultural School

1903; Farm Management.

Did you ever start to walk
With some fellow who'd not talk?
And then suddenly you found
That his wit was quite profound?
Was it "Doc"?

KENDALL HOWE MARSH
Holden, Mass. Holden High School

1907; Entomology; Varsity Hockey, Assistant Manager (3); Alpha Gamma Rho.

A chemist now, an English student never
Perhaps he'll not take English II forever
But there are doubts.
Jolly and fat, he surely is, however,
The best of "scouts".

CATHERINE MARY McKAY

Newtonville, Mass.

Newton High School

1906; Landscape Gardening; Athletic Association, Manager
Tennis (3); Delta Phi Gamma.

Her youth she will always retain,
Whose thoughts of herself are not vain.
All mind-racking things
To the devil she flings,
Such joy is not known to complain.

KENNETH FRASER McKITTRICK

Boston, Mass.

Jamaica Plain High School

1907; Landscape Gardening; Class Vice-President (1); Joint Committee on Intercollegiate Athletics (1, 2, 3); Varsity sity Hockey Squad (2, 3); Class Baseball (1, 2); Class Football (1); Class Hockey (1, 2, 3); Rifle Team (1, 2, 3), Captain

(2); Kappa Sigma.

A relatively "big man" in our class
Is Mac—and there is nothing very crass
About this boy.
It's good to see him run and catch a pass
With pensive joy.

ROBLEY WILSON NASH

Abington, Mass.

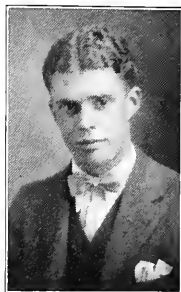

Abington High School

1908; Entomology; Maroon Key (2); Varsity Baseball, Squad
(2); Varsity Hockey (2, 3); Letter Man (3); Class Baseball
(1); Class Hockey (1); Kappa Sigma.

It's awfully hard to write about
A fellow who's so fine,
You're certain to leave something out
Where e'er you draw the line.
In Hockey he gyrates about
In Baseball, tags the runner out.
His humor quaint does sorrow flout
Why! he's a Paladin.

19 INDEX 29

EDWARD HOLYOKE NICHOLS
Montpelier, Vt. Proctor Academy

1907; Agricultural Economics; Maroon Key (2); Interfraternity Conference (3); Collegian (1, 2, 3); Kappa Sigma.

Some folks are fortunate
And some are importunate
And Nick can be classed with the first.
'Tis said he's entranced
By the Goddess Romance—
Well—ask him yourself if you "durst".

BOLESŁAW NITKIEWICZ
South Hadley, Mass. Williston Academy

1901; Agricultural Education; Interfraternity Conference (2, 3); Varsity Baseball, Letter Man (2); Varsity Football, Letter Man (2, 3); Class Track (1); Class Baseball (1); Class Football (1); Kappa Epsilon.

An athlete of no mean ability,
A student of greater facility—
These things are Nick
And more,—he's the pick
Of all of our class for senility.

WILLIAM JOSEPH O'LEARY
Northampton, Mass. Northampton High School

1908; Agricultural Education; Kappa Gamma Phi.

A stubby young fellow is "Billie",
A boy who could never be silly.
A lunch cart is his,
And 'tis said that it is
Like him, just as pure as a lily.

FAITH EVELYN PACKARD

Windsor, Mass.

Cushing Academy

1907; Agricultural Education; Girls' Glee Club (1, 2); Index (3); Inkehorne Contributor (2, 3); Women's Athletic Association (3); Delta Phi Gamma.

A modern Sappho, is this "Abbeyite",
 Whose verse is always good and bright and clever.
 Her brilliancy is like a meteorite
 Which lights a flame to be forgotten never.
 To her the greatest dole of honour's due
 For she has versified for all the co-eds
 And may her fame in after life accrue
 Whatever pathway she may choose to tread.

RUTH HARRIET PARRISH

Great Barrington, Mass.

Searles High School

1904; Chemistry; Girls' Glee Club (1, 2, 3); Inkehorne Contributor (2, 3); Women's Athletic Association (3); Delta Phi Gamma.

A student in booklore,—enough!
 Ruth never has needed to bluff.
 Be it Math. or Ag. Ed.
 It's all in her head,
 Ask the Profs; they'll say, "She knows her stuff."

ELDRED KEENE PATCH

Stoneham, Mass.

Stoneham High School

1906; Agricultural Education; Class Baseball (2); Class Hockey (2); Varsity Hockey Letter Man (3); Kappa Sigma.

When winter with its icy blasts
 A deathly chill o'er Amherst casts
 We find Patch on the ice.
 When Spring with sanguine hope beguiles
 A tired world with winsome smiles
 As backstop he's precise.

JANE PATTERSON

Amherst, Mass.

Amherst High School

1904: Agricultural Education; Prom Play (3); Commencement Show (2); Delta Phi Gamma.

Vivacious and snappy,—yes, Jane
Will carry you off into Spain
Mid dance and wild joys;
Watch that step,—see her poise!
As Queen of the Dance, let her reign.

HOLTON STEBBIN PEASE

Hampden, Mass.

Springfield Technical High School

1908: Landscape Gardening; Varsity Cross Country, Squad (2, 3); Class Track (1); Theta Chi.

Some folks can talk of their mansion so large
Their cottages, manors, and all;—
But "Cy" here, can tell you of what he's in charge
And talk about old Stockbridge Hall.

ESTHER JANET PERKINS

Easthampton, Mass.

Easthampton High School

1907: Agricultural Education; Women's Student Council (3); Girls' Glee Club (3); Delta Phi Gamma.

Oh, Esther can dance and can sing,
Her music is "fit for a king".
It makes your feet gay
Just to hear Esther play:
She's Nice without changing a thing.

19 INDEX 29

KENNETH WILLIAM PERRY

Holliston, Mass.

Holliston High School

1907; Agricultural Economics; Interfraternity Conference (3); Junior Prom Committee (3); Soph-Senior Hop Committee (2); Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Stately and supple, slender and tall—
 "Ken" dances "simply divinely"
 Whatever the music, where ever the hall
 He "steps out" in joy—not resignedly.

PAUL RAYMOND PLUMER

Adams, Mass.

Adams High School

1907; Landscape Gardening; Varsity Football, Squad (2), Letter Man (3); Class Football (1); Theta Chi.

Football claims another man,
 He gives the very best he can;
 More than that no one can say
 Even tho they speak of "Ray".

EARLE CLINTON PROUTY

Monson, Mass.

West Springfield High School

1908; Landscape Gardening; Interfraternity Conference (3); Alpha Sigma Phi.

Every class must have its lover
 A king of hearts, a dream prince—not a churl.
 We've tried hard but can't discover
 One who deserves the laurels more than Earl.

ROBERT DRAKE REES

Worcester, Mass.

Newton High School

1906; Pomology; Class Track (1); Rifle Team (1, 2); Alpha Sigma Phi.

"For better or worse"—these vows has Robert taken
And thus forsook the god Celiacy.
Intentions of being a bachelor have been shaken
By acts like this and by such men as he.

EVAN CARLETON RICHARDSON

Millis, Mass.

Millis High School

1907; Agricultural Education; Varsity Football, Letter Man (2, 3); Class Football (1); M. A. C. Glee Club (1, 2); Phi Sigma Kappa.

Some men are like a gem of purest ray;
Their virtues are unnumbered and their vices
So slight as not to count. Of these we say
That "Ritche's" first. In him a fault entices.

BIRGER JOHN RUDQUIST

Boston, Mass.

English High School

1906; Entomology; Class Football (1); Class Hockey (1); Class Track (1); Varsity Football, Squad (2), Letter Man (3); Varsity Hockey, Squad (2); Phi Sigma Kappa.

Tonsorial treatments don't help him a bit.
But neither does anything hamper his wit.
For "Dutch" is a man of profound versatility—
His showing in football attests his ability.

HUNTINGTON RUTAN

North Hadley, Mass.

Wilmington High School

1907; Dairy Manufactures; Glee Club Orchestra (1, 2);
Theta Chi.

This gentleman flashes a "flivver!"
Whenever you feel a quick quiver
Caressing your spine
That unfeeling whine
Is his cornet making you shiver.

CARMETA ELIZABETH SARGENT

Shrewsbury, Mass.

South High School

1903; Agricultural Education; Y. W. C. A. Cabinet (2, 3);
Vice-President (3); Prom Play (3); Women's Athletic Association (3); Delta Phi Gamma.

There is little that "Meta" won't do
For any soul, lonesome or blue;
A good sport throughout,
Yet always devout.
She has done much for Y. W.

LEONARD FESSENDEN EVERETT SARGENT

Greenfield, Mass.

Greenfield High School

1906; Chemistry; Alpha Sigma Phi.

L. and F. and E. and S.
Whose initials—can't you guess,
The champion of loquaciousness
Who studies hard, and with finesse.

EARNEST CLARK SHUMAN

Malden, Mass.

Malden High School

1906; Animal Husbandry; Alpha Sigma Phi.

Cruel fate,—he will never revile,
Who can look out on life with a smile,
For true optimism,
Breeds no criticism,
But murmurs, "Keep on" all the while.

GLADYS ELIZABETH SIVERT

Worcester, Mass.

North High School

1907; Home Economics; Girls' Glee Club (1, 2, 3); Index (3);
Women's Athletic Association (3); Delta Phi Gamma.

Yes, Gladys can "throw a good line",
Because she is full of sunshine;
She blushes with charm,
Without causing harm,
To a pink and white skin that's sublime.

GRACE GERTRUDE SLACK

Allston, Mass.

Brighton High School

1907; Animal Husbandry; Delta Phi Gamma.

"Twilight" and "Happy" are all that she needs,
Mistress supreme among spirited steeds;
Now Grace with her pen is a genius; some day
Her clever short stories will certainly pay
For hundreds of horses, and then we will say,
"Crazy over horses, horses, horses."

BESSIE MAY SMITH

Somerville, Mass.

Somerville High School

1906; Landscape Gardening; Y. W. C. A., Treasurer (2); Girls' Glee Club (2); Women's Athletic Association, Council (3); Delta Phi Gamma.

Diana herself in disguise,
This athletic maid wins the prize;
But the gods give her powers
To enforce "quiet hours"
For herein her destiny lies.

ROBERT SINCLAIR SNELL

Southbridge, Mass.

Mary E. Wells High School

1906; Botany; Varsity Cross Country, Letter Man (2).

If I could write verse,
Like Poe, or worse
I'd have a little tale to tell;
Of how a man
Can be a man
Yet think alone, like Robert Snell.

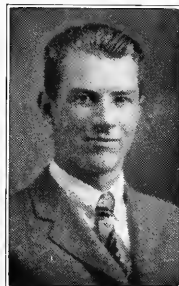

WALTER EDWARD SOUTHWICK

Clinton, Mass.

Clinton High School

1907; Pomology; Varsity Track, (2); Varsity Cross Country Squad (2, 3); M. A. C. Outing Club, President (3); Kappa Epsilon.

The mighty and majestic stride
With which he calmly wends his way
Just indicates the steadiness
The constant ever readiness
With which he studies day by day.

PHILLIPS BRADLEY STEERE

Chepachet, R. I.

Moses Brown School

1907; Pomology; Varsity Baseball, Squad (2); Class Baseball (1, 2); Glee Club Orchestra (3); Phi Sigma Kappa.

You can't find words enough to tell
Of this Rhode Island "Red"
Clean and steady, nothing fell
Could enter this lad's head.
He's just the kind of chap that you
Would want you're boy to be "true blue."

ELIZABETH ANNE STEINBUGLER

Brooklyn, N. Y.

E. H. Packer Collegiate Institute

1906; Landscape Gardening; Class Historian (3); Women's Student Council (2); Girls' Glee Club (1, 2); Prom Play (1, 3); Commencement Show (2); Index (3); Athletic Association, President (3); Delta Phi Gamma.

Here's "Betty,"—a star in athletics,
"A" student, and child of aesthetics;
She does well to whate'er she inclines,
And has caused some distractions
By all her attractions
Acquainted with Nature's designs.

JOHN AYER SULLIVAN

Medford, Mass.

Medford High School

1906; Agricultural Education; Varsity Football, Squad (2, 3); Class Football (1); Sigma Phi Epsilon.

If you should want to find a man true blue
An athlete who can be a scholar too,
Be sure that you don't overlook our John
For He's the one to put your trust upon.
I doubt if one could find the words to tell
How real a man is John, and do it well.

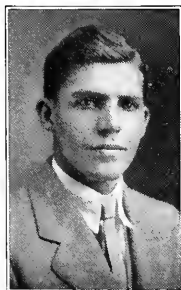

ROY SIMPSON TARR

Gloucester, Mass.

Gloucester High School

1906; Pomology; Class Hockey (1); Theta Chi.

Still as a mouse—that's Roy,
Not such a talkative boy;
Yet it's a wonder—
Working like thunder
He ripes asunder
Tough courses—in it takes joy.

FREDERICK DANIELS THAYER, JR.

Shrewsbury, Mass.

Shrewsbury High School

1907; Chemistry; Honor Council (1); Collegian (1, 2, 3);
Kappa Sigma.

Now, if you know "Freddie" no more need be said,
He cannot be forced, tho sometimes he's led.
His profile is classic;
Altho he's not plastic
There's something elastic
And cheery, and friendly about this man "Fred".

EARLE ALEXANDER TOMPKINS

Easthampton, Mass.

Easthampton High School

1906; Agricultural Education; Class Treasurer (1); Varsity Basketball, Squad (2); Class Baseball (1, 2); Class Basketball
(1, 2); Alpha Sigma Phi.

"Tommy" is the gentleman, who owns the "College Grill"
And he can fry a "Hamburg" or an egg with right good will:
But he is more than this, for he's
A "hoopster" whose abilities
Are notable, and would a volume fill.

ROGER SAMPSON TOURTELLOT
 Providence, R. I.
 Mitchell School and New Hampton Institute
 1905; Agricultural Economics; Varsity Cross Country, Squad
 (3); Sigma Phi Epsilon.

There is a young Junior named "Sam"
 And he is a meek little lamb.
 Wherever he goes,
 Then everyone knows,
 That here is a boy who can cram.

MOODY FRANCIS TREVETT
 Milford, Mass. Milford High School
 1907; Pomology.

The wittiest, funniest man in the class,
 His themes are a scream,—so's he, but alas!
 Posterity never will know of his wit
 For he is too lazy to profit by it.
 And so we will leave him alone with his thoughts.
 His Heaven's a place full of comfortable cots.

DICKRAN VARTANIAN
 Springfield, Mass. Technical High School
 1907; Chemistry; Kappa Epsilon.

Janitor, Chemist, Wrestler, Brick,
 These things and more are diminutive "Dick",
 His brain is stupendous, his wisdom profound,
 Altho his small head isn't far from the ground.

CHARLES EDWARD WALKDEN

Swansea, Mass.

B. M. C. Durfee High School

1907; Agricultural Education; Class Sergeant-at-Arms (1); Senate (3); M. A. C. C. A. Cabinet (3); Varsity Baseball Squad (2); Varsity Football, Letter Man (2, 3); Class Baseball (1); Class Football (1, 2); Q. T. V.

An Ajax defying the thunder had nothing
On "Charlie" out there on the old football field.
He fought with the best when another'd be quitting,
Grimly determined that he'd never yield.
He surely deserves all the honor he's getting,
May the sun of his fame with us here ne'er be setting.

DANA OTIS WEBBER

Montague, Mass.

Arms Academy

1908; Agricultural Education; Varsity Track, Letter Man (2, 3); Varsity Basketball, Squad (2, 3); Class Football (1); Class Basketball (1); Q. T. V.

A track man and "hoopster"
Is Dana—he stoops to Work for his living some times.
He's not melancholic.
He likes fun and frolic.
He has what is called "optimism sublime."

It's often the lad with the grin,
The chap who can smile and pitch in,
When everything's wrong
And life holds no song,
Who gets what he wants—who will win.

DORIS EVELYN WHITTLE
 Worcester, Mass. South High School

1906; Botany; Girls' Glee Club (2, 3); Women's Athletic Association (3); Delta Phi Gamma.

Our Doris is so fond of bugs,
 She is known to collect them in jugs;
 To her nature this serves as a clue;
 But you haven't begun
 When you say she is fun,
 For you'll find she is sincere and true.

LLOYD GEORGE WILLIAMS
 Pittsfield, Mass. Pittsfield High School

1906; Bacteriology; Kappa Epsilon.

Back from '28
 Into '29
 By a stroke of Fate,
 He was put in line.
 Rather quiet, he
 Shuns society.

ALEXANDER CHARLES WINTON
 Springfield, Mass. Central High School

1907; Landscape Gardening; Varsity Cross Country, Squad (3); Kappa Epsilon.

Slender and sinuous, supple and lithe,
 His disposition is happy and blithe.
 We rather envy the wave in his hair,
 His breezy presence, and ways debonaire.

JOHN SARGENT WOODBURY

Fitchburg High School

1907; Agricultural Economics; M. A. C. C. A. Cabinet (3); Interfraternity Conference (3); Varsity Track, Squad (2); Glee Club Orchestra (2); Index, Editor-in-Chief (3); Alpha Sigma Phi.

John is the very soul of tact,
You can't disturb his poise.
A star in track, and that's a fact,
He never makes much noise.
He's head of this, our yearbook, too,
A task to make a Greeley blue.

PRESCOTT DAVENPORT YOUNG

North Grafton, Mass.

Grafton High School

1906; Animal Husbandry; Varsity Basketball, Assistant Manager (3); Academic Activities' Board (3); Commencement Show (2); Index, Business Manager (3); Lambda Chi Alpha.

A transfer to Aggie is Young,
By co-eds his praises are sung.
His nickname is "Pep",
And to add to his "rep",
He has a most eloquent tongue.

JOHN BLAISE ZIELINSKI, JR.

Holyoke, Mass.

The last of this long noble roster is "Zeke"
A chap whose athletic—a student and shiek.
He's more than this though, he's a class politician
Who'd prove to be quite a good model for Titian.

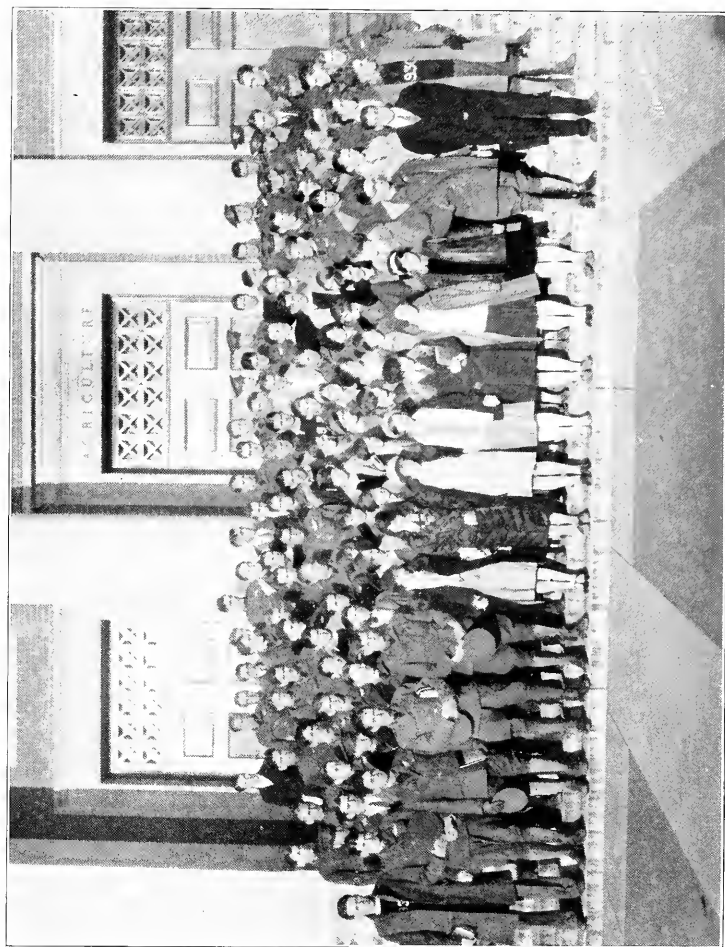

Nocturne

Listen my children and you shall hear
Of the midnight ride of a horse that's dear,
Brought from her stable and out of the gate,
Prudence was stolen one night rather late.
Her captors then put her on top of a cart
And soon after that the procession did start.
Out of the campus and down Pleasant Street,
Challenging loudly whom e'er they did meet,
This wild gang of hoodlums went rambling along
Disturbing the night with their laughter and song.
And ever anon Prudence's rider did cry,
"The British are coming, to arms, farmers, fly."
The cart rumbled onward with Prudence atop,
And finally down by the Town Hall did stop.
Then Amherst's police force advanced to the fray,
And bravely across the broad street made his way.
"What Ho! you brave Agates, What beast have you there?
How dare you disturb my sweet dreams by your blare?
Go back to your campus. Bring back that fierce beast.
I'll pinch this whole gang from the first to the least."
Our captain, disdaining this post of the law
Did sign to the rest with a cold, grimy paw.
They then started back toward the campus that night
To see Prudence carried was surely a sight.
The Fire Station was then the next parking place,
And speeches and singing indulged in apace.
Then backward sweet Prudence was brought in her ride
With many a bold Aggie man at her side,
They took her and dumped her right off her sedan
And sweated and heaved to the very least man.
They carried her down to the old Aggie pond
And handled her carefully as if they were fond
Of their old wooden burden. At last by the shore
They stood her upright. Quoth they "Nevermore."
Two brave men did boldly take off their new pants
And quickly put Prudence where she had a chance
To wash off her ankles without even bending
While winds up her spine, cold shivers were sending.
And here she remained till she one day was stolen
And 'tis said that her most shapely ankles were swollen.
Where is she now? Well, we'd sure like to know
For that is a place where we surely would go.
So here's to old Prudence. Long may she reign
As the queen of good fellows, of dullards the bane.

Sophomore Class History

ON September 13, 1926, a fresh shipment of 185 would-be-college seedlings were sent to to be transplanted on the M. A. C. campus. To produce the most luxuriant growth for the development of Aggie men, they were advised to be guided by these commandments:

FIRST YEAR

1. Bathe thy superiors.
2. Pull their fighting six across the line.
3. Let the opponents be conquerors in the rough arts of "razoo."
4. Leave few whole nightshirts on the "sophas moras."
5. Defy thy rivals, burn thy caps, and refresh thyself in Aggie's noble pond.
6. Do thy level best, but break not the recent precedent in the big rushes.
7. Remember—"Ontogeny recapitulates phylogeny."
8. Be thou the last yearlings to lay aside the old "prexy."

SECOND YEAR

1. Be ye the first Sophs by whom the new head is tried.
2. Continue thy way as thou didst as seedlings in the first three acts of college custom.
3. Bow to thy inferiors and be bereft of thy shirts by defeat.
4. Stoop again and give laurels to thy supplanted ones in the sports of the field but not on the floor.
5. Take into hand thy charges and inflict due penalty for their disobedience of the regulations set by our worthy Senate.

Freshman Class History

A LARGE army of neophytes arrived on this fair campus early last September. No band was there to meet it nor was it given any real notice at the time. To the college, this group was not unlike any other first-year class.

The college body, however, soon became aware of the presence of the newcomers. In an amazingly brief time, the sophomores recognized us, and it was just a matter of a few days before we became the lowest of the low and the meekest of the meek. But this situation could not exist, for, presently the student body began to refer to us not as "a class of freshmen" but as "the freshman class".

Meekness and submission were gradually thrust aside. Revenge began to have a place in our lowly lives. And how sweet it was! The sophomore class will long remember Razoo night, and the freshmen will gleefully reminisce how they enjoyed piling up the Class of '30 in their enclosure.

Football proved to be the big triumph of the year; the sophomore football team was beaten by a score of 7 to 0 as a matter of course. Somehow the Rope Pull managed to slip through our hands, but we were very considerate and did not wish to see the sophomore class go barren of honors. The hockey team beat their superiors in a close game 3 to 2. We now look forward with pleasure to the remaining term in which we hope for additional successes.

People Walking By

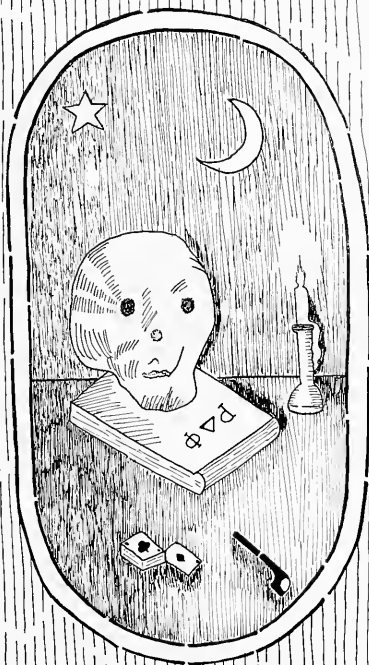

I can see them in my dreams,
People walking by,
Up and down the long dull streets,
Paved with destiny;
Whence so many? For what end?
Vain to wonder why;
People walking up the streets,
People walking by.

I can see them in my dreams
People walking by,
A sad face here, a bright face there,
Laughter and a sigh;
I look at them, they look at me,
Still there's no reply;
People walking down the streets,
People walking by.

FAITH E. PACKARD.

Phi Kappa Phi

THE honorary scholastic society of our college is Phi Kappa Phi. An honor, indeed, as well as a scholarly triumph, to be elected to this select group. Twice a year, members from the senior class are elected to Phi Kappa Phi. The principal election is in the fall, and a supplementary one, in the spring, to provide for additional senior students who may have qualified for election during the fall and winter terms of their senior year. Those members of the senior class whose scholarship average has been eighty-five or above, are eligible for election to the Honorary Scholarship Society of Phi Kappa Phi. Not more than fifteen percent of the class can be elected, however.

We are becoming accustomed to seeing, twice a year, the initiation of the new members into Phi Kappa Phi. It is a very solemn occasion. The faculty members of the society, numbering some fifty grave looking personages in cap and gown, sit upon the rostrum of Bowker Auditorium. The initiates are given their keys of membership with fitting ceremony. Do we appreciate the honor that is being conferred upon a few of our fellow students? They are to be congratulated that they have used their time and talents to such good advantage; that they have reached the goal which lured them on, over the paths of earnest endeavor; that finally they have been honored as was their due. Incidentally, we may be proud that it has been our experience here at M. A. C., that the students who are elected to Phi Kappa Phi, are also representatives of practically every organization and activity on our campus. We may be glad that we have a double standard of excellence walking as one.

This year a new feature has been added to Phi Kappa Phi regime. The Massachusetts Chapter of Phi Kappa Phi has decided to offer annually an award for outstanding work in scholarship. The Phi Kappa Phi scholarship, which carries a remuneration of $250, was awarded this fall to Harold E. Clark of Montague. It is to be given each year to one of the three ranking seniors, and is to take into consideration both scholarship and character. The award is to be based on the record made during the first three years, and is to be used for the furtherance of educational studies.

Attention! We are being doubly tempted to attain scholarship and nobility of character. Certainly we all will strive. And may the best win!

Indolence

I would idle as the river
As it flows across the land;
And move the tall swamp grasses;
And roll the bits of sand;
And whirl in rock paved eddies;
And rush with lightning speed
The length of rocky caverns
And then into the mead,
To tumble colored ducklings
And drift them at their play,
To show them dainty morsel
Then snatch it quick away;
And be a bath for birdlings;
And a fountain clear and cool.
Oh! I'd idle as the river
And rest in every pool.

DOROTHY M. COOKE

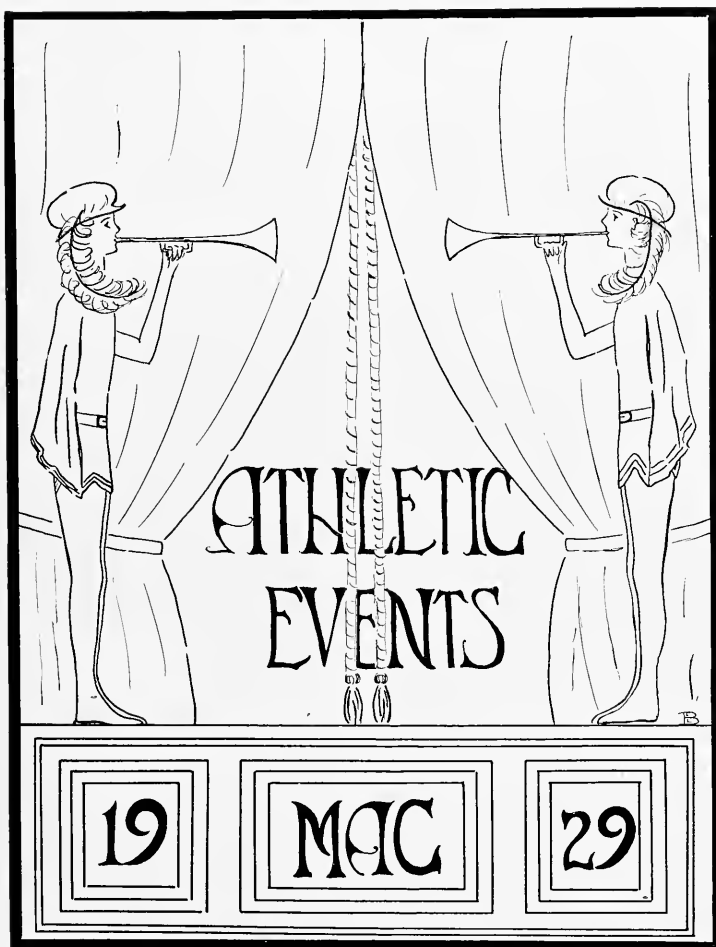

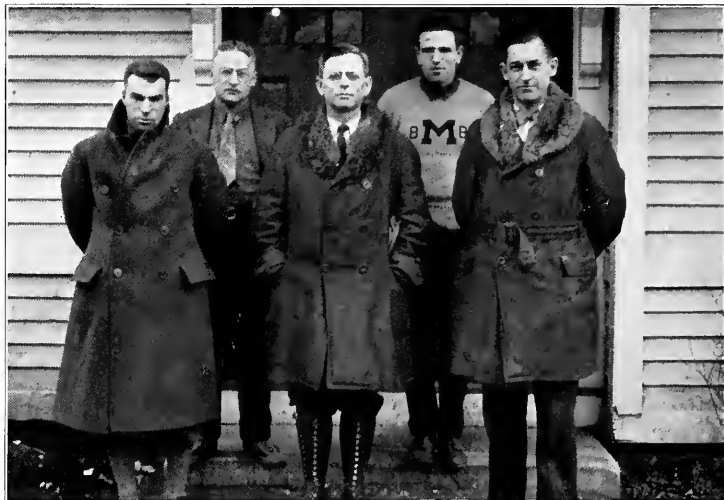

Immortality

The sky above is deepest azure blue;
The sun's gold warmth is pulsing earth with life;
The fragrant air with melody is rife;
The bobolink's mad glee, the dove's low coo;
The warbler's trill, the lark's repeated notes;
The zephyrs softly whispering in the trees;
The brook that murmurs secrets to the breeze;
While meadow flowerettes dance like sunlit motes.

I kneel beside your grassy resting place,
And warm fingers trace upon cold stone
Your name. I pull a weed. Then fill, with one
Great purple lilac tear, your tall glass vase.
I think I feel your kindly presence near,
And wonder if you know that I am here.

TRACK

1927 Winter Track and Relay Season

THE winter track season opened with the Knights of Columbus Meet in Boston on January 22nd. Aggie ran a triangular relay race with Boston and Northeastern Universities, which Boston won. Though losing its first race, the team showed promise of victory in the next meet.

Our next race took place in the Boston Athletic Association Meet in Boston on February 5th. We entered the triangular relay with a crippled team. Rice having injured his knee the week previous, and lost to Bates.

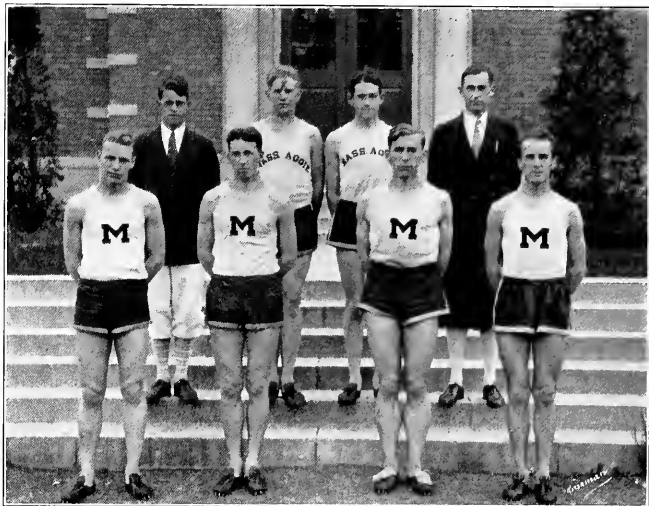

The Worcester Tech meet came on February 22nd. Rivalry was at blood heat as the lead shifted from one team to the other with each event until W. P. I. won the relay, last event of the meet, thereby gaining enough points to nose into a victory, 39-38.

The team closed its season in March with the Springfield Armory Meet. On the cancellation of the relay with Springfield, several of the team entered the open events and brought back medals for places. Henneberry, '27, brought home the Rolls Royce Cup, prize of the evening, by winning the special Rolls Royce Mile. His time for the race was 4:50, and so was entitled to put his name to a new indoor mile record for the college.

1927 Spring Track Season

THE "Agate" track season opened inauspiciously with a defeat by Wesleyan.

A period of rain followed by a cold snap immediately preceded the meet, resulting in the track lacking condition, a state which was clearly reflected in the men's form. In spite of the bad start the team recovered and hung up an enviable record, lacking perhaps in victories, but not in times.

Wesleyan brought up an unexpectedly strong team for the opening meet, April 23rd, and overwhelmed the home team, 112-23. Some of the veteran men came through in their events, but many of the men had not yet become used to the cinder track which was still a bit soggy and wet, so that Wesleyan swept a majority of the events.

A dual meet with Trinity followed. The team staged a comeback winning the meet, 96-30. The team showed good form with Hall high scorer with 16 points in the field events. Schappelle broke the first record of the season, lowering his own half-mile record to 2:03.

The Worcester Tech Meet the following Saturday was nip and tuck, Worcester finally winning, 64 $\frac{2}{3}$ —61 $\frac{1}{3}$. Milde and French of Worcester hung up new W. P. I. records in their events, the 220-dash and the 220-hurdles. Schappelle broke our second record by winning the mile in 4:34 $\frac{2}{5}$. Then surprised the crowd a few minutes later by winning the half-mile in 2:02, bettering his own record by a second.

The E. I. C. A. A. Meet took place the next week, and Aggie scored seven points with a second place in the half-mile and two thirds in the mile and the broad jump.

At the New England Association Meet the week afterwards, Captain Swan and several men competed, Hall making a point for Aggie with a fourth place in the broad jump.

The Tufts Meet on May 28th came as a climax to the season. After a long struggle for a majority of the points, Tufts finally secured the winning points on a long javelin throw by Soule. Each event was hotly contested. Schappelle and Lester of Tufts fought through a two-man race in the two-mile with "Schap" winning, and hanging up a new two-mile record of 10:10 $\frac{1}{5}$. He was the outstanding runner of the meet, tying Henneberry in the mile, making a new record in the two-mile, and easily winning the half-mile. Coukos broke our fourth record shortly afterwards heaving the shot 36 feet 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

1927 Cross Country Season

THE cross country season for 1927 started off with rather poor prospects, as Captain Charles Preston was the only veteran left to the team. However, after several weeks of practice the team journeyed to Middletown, Conn. to compete against the Wesleyan Harriers. In this meet Preston led his team of untried runners across the tape closely followed by "Dutch" Schappelle; the team won by a score of 22 to 34.

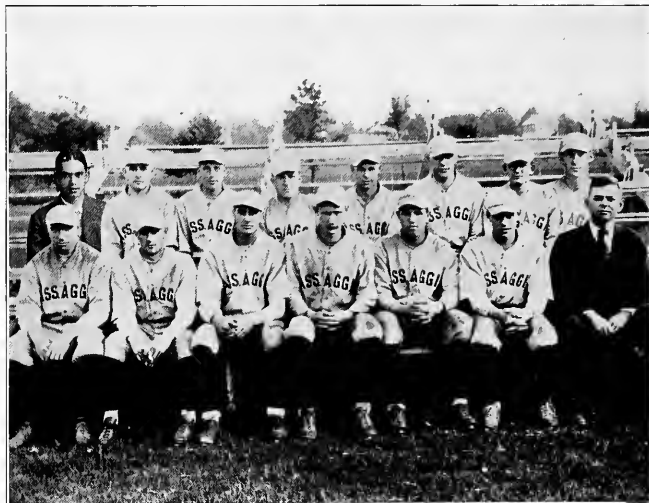

In the next meet with Worcester Tech the race was over a much more difficult course and the Aggies barely managed to come out with a winning score of 26 to 29.

The following week-end saw the team at Harvard College. Here the team suffered a severe beating by a stronger and more experienced team of runners. "Charlie" Preston made his best showing of the season in this race, even though led by nine Crimson Harriers, as the course was of an entirely different nature from what the team was used to.

The next race was held on our own course against Boston University. This run was interesting because of the close fights at the finish. "Dutch" Schappelle led the pack over the entire course but was finally beaten out of his victory by Lockhart of B. U. "Charlie" Preston followed Broad of B. U. around the route, but managed to sprint at the finish to win out for third place. Three other Aggie men then finished in order and clinched the meet by the score of 26 to 30.

At the New England Intercollegiates in Franklin Park the following week-end the team showed up rather poorly due to adverse conditions and finished in eleventh place. The season as a whole, although not as eventful as of past years, was very good considering the lack of experienced runners.

BASEBALL

The 1927 Baseball Season

BASEBALL has always held an important place in Aggie campus life, and last season was no exception as is evidenced by the large squad which reported for practice and the group of students that followed the team to nearby encounters.

Baseball opened during the middle of the spring vacation with morning, afternoon, and nightly practices at the Amherst College baseball cage. Owing to an early spring, the Aggie team was able to get out on the diamond early. Among the squad there were six letter men, and consequently high hopes were held. Taking it as a whole, the season was not exactly successful, yet one cannot stamp the record as poor. Out of the sixteen game schedule, seven were victories and one was called off because of rain. A notable victory was the Commencement game with Amherst, when Aggie conquered her old rival before one of the largest crowds to witness an Aggie home game by a 2 to 1 victory. The victory is significant in its exemplification of Aggie's fighting spirit which shook the jinx that had followed the team for the six previous games. It was the first victory over Amherst after five consecutive defeats and made us logical champions over the "Little Three."

The team began its season against a veteran Williams team, which had given a good account of itself on its southern trip. However, the yet untried Agates felt confident of their ability. With "Norm" Nash on the rubber, the team won a very close and exciting game to the score of 1 to 0. Nash's pitching was well worth the commendation he received, allowing but two hits and striking out seven men. It was Captain McVey's base hit that brought in the winning run.

Worcester was the next victim by the crushing score of 14 to 5. Aggie displayed a hitting combination that batted four two base hits and nine base hits. It might be said that the score was close until the eighth inning when the team accounted for four runs, and in the ninth inning for five more.

Maine was the victor by a count of 8 to 3, by virtue of seven errors, all of which were costly to the Aggies, and allowed the Maine team to score her eight runs unearned. The team outhit the Maine rivals by three hits. All in all the game was loosely played, and must be classed as one of the "off-days of the club."

Wesleyan was decisively beaten on High School Day before a large crowd. The day was perfect for a baseball game, and the team showed exceptional ability. Nash struck out ten men while Griffin and Thompson each connected for a three base hit. Briggs and Moriarty batted safely to second. The score was 6 to 2.

Clark was easily beaten 15 to 7. The team gained an early lead of eight runs by the third inning, and batted around in the first inning. It was in the ninth inning when Coach Ball replaced his team with substitutes that Clark gathered four runs.

At Hanover the game started vigorously with Dartmouth taking the lead, when rain caused the termination of the game in the third inning.

At Lowell the Agates again went on a batting rampage, collecting twenty hits to Lowell Textiles' five. In the end the score stood 15 to 1. Bowie played brilliantly as pitcher and besides he hit timely in the second inning for a third base. Moriarty starred in this game at short stop and hit safely five times out of as many times at bat.

Tufts' superior team whitewashed the M. A. C. nine, 9 to 0. While Nash pitched a very creditable game the Jumbos hit hard in the first inning for a home-run and a three base hit. Robinson's exceptional pitching allowed but a few scattered hits.

Aggie topped her New Hampshire rivals, and somewhat avenged the bitter defeat a year ago by a 2 to 1 score. Honors were even on both sides, each team played a hard and fast game. Aggies' two runs both came in the eighth when Slagton of New Hampshire seemed to weaken under the gruelling contest and allowed a two base hit which placed Haertl in scoring position. At this time Horan, batting for his initial appearance as pinch hitter, "came across" with a pretty single between third and second which brought Haertl home. Thompson then batted safely to first and Horan slid into the home plate.

Amherst overcame M. A. C. on her own diamond, in another hard, closely-played game. The winning run came in the ninth on a squeeze play by a bunt from the Amherst freshman pitcher, Nichols. This run was the only score of the game.

At Middlebury the team met defeat on one of the coldest, windiest days of the spring. Both teams played with "hoods", a uniform which hampered their style. After establishing a 2 to 0 lead early in the game, the Agates played loosely thereafter and allowed Middlebury the long end of a 4 to 2 score. Kuzmeski did a creditable job of pitching.

Vermont nosed out the Agates by a score of 2 to 1. Two costly errors accounted for the defeat, while Bowie did exceedingly well as pitcher. A double play Bowie to Nitkiewicz was one of the bright spots of Aggies' playing.

In one of the most hectic games of the season Union overcame a 5 to 0 lead by batting completely around in the sixth inning and tying the score. Union scored the winning run in the ninth. Coach Ball's team outhit the rivals and allowed but one earned run. The two errors of the game came in the sixth and spelt ruin for an otherwise perfect day.

Northeastern batted itself to a 5 to 2 victory in a loosely played contest at Boston.

Perhaps the most hectic spectacle of the season took place at Springfield College when Springfield batted Bowie for three home runs in the first inning and collected ten runs at the same time. Here Kuzmeski stepped into the game and presented the physical instructors with a slow ball which they found exceedingly hard to hit safely. Aggies' two runs came early in the eighth inning on errors.

At Commencement, the jinx which had followed the team on its games away from home left, and the team recovered completely to suffer Amherst a 2 to 1 defeat. Nash pitched his last game very ably, and the club used every opportunity offered to advantage. A base on balls to Nash and later a passed ball accounted for the winning run of the eighth. It was a noble victory and closed the season for a hard fighting club.

As a whole, the batting of the team showed much more strength than previous teams have shown. The infield was inclined to err at costly moments, but the outfield was steady, and it was not until the close of the season that the team met defeat. In Nash and Bowie Aggie had two effective twirlers, and Briggs, their battery mate, was equally as effective. Captain McVey at first base was always dependable and served as an excellent leader.

FOOTBALL

The 1927 Football Season

THE 1927 football season opened about a week before the opening of college with the usual comparatively large group of men present. Among those men to report for practice were nine letter and a good many sophomores. Thus we started the season with a fair group of veterans, but veterans that were perhaps the smallest that the college had ever seen. It was, in fact, a veritable fly-weight team.

"Kid" Gore was assisted this past season by Louis Black '27 as line coach and the unfailing "Pop" Clark '87 as coach of C team. At the pre-season practice we also had on the field "Red" Sullivan '26, "Larry" Jones '26, "Roly" Sawyer '26, "Eddie" Bike '24, "Larry" Briggs '27, "Red" Ball, Prof. Markuson, and "Vic" Butterfield of Cornell, the son of former President Butterfield.

Much time was put in each day to get the team into its traditional good condition and slow motion pictures were taken for instruction in technique.

The opening game of the season with Bowdoin at Brunswick gave us all hope for the little team. They were greatly outweighed but not only held their own, but played a far superior game than their opponents. However they lacked the weight for the final push over the line for a touchdown and the game ended in a scoreless tie.

In the second game of the season the teams were more evenly matched, but both were handicapped by a hot day and a bright sun which turned out to be our stumbling block. In the second half Bates kicked a punt into the sun and it was lost by our safety man to be recovered by them and thus give them their only score.

Again in the next game we were outweighed but fought against these odds with the true college spirit. It was interesting in this game to watch "Kid" Kneeland, 128-pound back, actually carry along the heavy Middlebury men on his shoulders. For the second time the team came away from heavy odds losers but not beaten.

In the Williams game the Aggie midgets went up against a team which was heavily favored, but succeeded in scoring for the first time in the season, and that in the first few minutes of the game. At the start of the second period the Williams "Vanzetti backfield" was put in and Howe succeeded in practically winning the game single handed. The team came out of this game at the short end of a 31-7 score after a well fought game against Williams' flashing lateral passes.

On October 22 Aggie met Worcester Tech only to have last year's score reversed by a fluke when Converse after receiving a kick reversed his field and made the only score of the game. The team didn't have the necessary punch to put the ball across the line, altho it was several times brought within the very shadow of the goal posts. Altho it bettered Worcester in first downs, it failed to smash thru the best team that the latter has ever had.

In the annual clash with Amherst, Aggie was again materially outweighed, but the line put up a good fight and several times held Amherst on first downs. Amherst's forward pass attack did much toward winning the game, altho our own passes gained much ground. It is rather interesting to note that one of these passes, Rudquist to Kneeland, which netted twenty-five yards, was performed while both were more or less out of their heads and had little idea where the play was going to go. This game cost us two serious injuries "Kid" Kneeland and "Jack" Quinn, the latter being replaced by Tuttle, who played his first game of varsity football like a veteran and did some of the best tackling of the season.

The team entered the Springfield game with a great handicap in the loss of five regulars and an entirely new backfield. The Springfield team with its full strength proved to be too fast for the Aggies. Our aerial attack in this game proved to be on nearly equal terms with that of Springfield, and "Bob" Bowie's cool passing was the best work of the game. Springfield's heavier and faster team spelled the defeat of our crippled and reorganized team in a score of 26-0.

Our game with Norwich University, one of the few home games which was scheduled for November 12 unfortunately had to be cancelled because of the flood which made it impossible for the cadets to reach Amherst.

The final game of the year was to my mind a fitting climax to the 1927 season. Altho faced by a much heavier, faster, and more experienced team; in fact, one that outweighed them by twenty pounds and was the best in Tuft's history, the Aggies showed real spirit and genuine fighting. Beaten all year, they did not quit, they came up with super-human strength and battled in their last fight with a courage that must be commended.

The game was lost by a 32-6 score but there is much consolation in the knowledge that two of the touchdowns were made on flukes. The referee did not see the plays and his failure to blow his whistle gave Tufts their chance to score.

In closing, I might say that I believe that the team did their best. This year as in the past the team was made up of men who were seldom absent from practice, always faithful in keeping training regulations and serious in their work. They played a disheartening season full of losses but were not beaten in spirit.

The season was one full of handicaps of weight, speed, and experience and yet the team lived up to the well known motto, "A winner never quits and a quitter never wins". They ended the season fighting to the last with even doubled strength and in the closing game of the season on Alumni Field demonstrated a spirit of which the college may well be proud.

HOCKEY

The 1928 Hockey Season

THE 1928 Hockey Team played and lost six games. Of the regular team, three men were seniors playing their third year of varsity hockey for M. A. C., one man was a junior who saw much service in 1927, the fifth a junior transfer playing his first season for M. A. C., the sixth was a sophomore playing his first year of regular hockey. The team was captained by Joseph H. Forest of Arlington, Mass., who was also captain of the 1927 team. Lorin E. Ball '21 served as coach. To what extent the weather permitted, two rinks were maintained, one on the Pond and the other on the rink level.

The winter was about as "open" as any winter in the memory of the grounds department. The freshmen, no doubt fail to appreciate that fact, for each year the grounds department usurps more and more the power of the freshmen. Of the eleven games scheduled, five were cancelled: the games with Williams, Union, Vermont, Middlebury, and the second Amherst game.

The first game was played at Amherst against Bates College, on January twelfth. Winter descended on the campus just long enough to provide fair ice for the game. Ice for the squad to practice on had been rare, but displaying considerable resourcefulness and versatility, the team had worked themselves into condition on "dry land" by playing a modified form of field hockey. The Maine sextet had also been handicapped by lack of ice, so that several of the Maine League games had to be cancelled or postponed. The team that started for M. A. C. was as follows: Patch, r.w.; Forest, l.w.; Frese, c.; Abrahamson, r.d.; Nash, l.d.; and Devine, goal. This was the first-string line-up the rest of the season, except that after the second game Phinney took the place of Devine at goal. The game was quite fast, rather rough at times, and quite erratic, as first games are inclined to be. The Bates team, with Captain White shining, shot two deceptive goals past Devine for a score of 2 to 0. Violette, the experienced goalie of the Bates team, played as good a game as any man on the ice.

On the evening of January 17th, the hockey team and basketball five made the first lap of the trip by bus to West Point. Again the ice was soft, even at the Bear Mountain Park Skating Arena where the game was played. The play throughout was rather unorthodox in style. The whole affair was a somewhat rough-and-tumble fight in which the chief features were the wounding of "Al" Cook who relieved "Joe" Forest at left wing, and the fierce but vain onslaught of an Aggie five man offense in the closing few minutes of play. The final score was 3 to 1.

The Hamilton game was played on perfect ice on a closed rink. Much travel and little practice showed itself in the condition of the Massachusetts team, but after a fast game the score was 2 to 1 in favor of Hamilton. Phinney, a sophomore, starting his first game for M. A. C., played a splendid game at goal. Forest's score was a pretty bit of individual play.

At New Hampshire, in a rough and ragged game, the home team won, 4 to 2, the two outstanding men on the ice being Captain Forest and the New Hampshire goalie.

At Bates on the following night, the team played again on an indoor rink, but after an all-Aggie first period, condition began to tell, and the Bates men scored twice in the third period to Nash's one goal for M. A. C.

In the last game of the season, Amherst beat M. A. C. on the latter's rink, 4 to 1, in a game not at all one sided. This game started at twilight and was at least to some extent a matter of fortune and lamplight.

So much for the fortunes of war. There is no gilded frame about the picture of the 1928 hockey team. If the percentage of games won is the sole criterion of a team's success, the less said the better. Yet there must be something more to any sport than the mere percentage column. Some luck here, a good play there, and positions are reversed. Of this team be it said that with all things dark for them, with defeat ever following them, they never once gave up the fight; and the 1928 team, and with it the Frese-Forest-Abrahamson senior trio, rendered well their charge—the Aggie Spirit!

BABBL

1928 Basketball Season

THE record of winning fifty percent of the games played in basketball at Aggie established by the 1922 team was increased to seven consecutive years. This season we had what might be termed an in and out club. The interesting part of it was in the rise from apparent mediocrity on occasions to a team displaying an errorless type of basketball. Coach Gore was quite fortunate in having four seniors with considerable experience whom together with "Freddie" Ellert, made up the "Doctor Denton's" of 1928, now known among other things for their display of so-called "sweat pants" which provided considerable interest all the way from West Point to the Hub.

Opening the season with three straight victories seemed an auspicious beginning for any team and especially for our remodelled Drill Hall. Perhaps the best game of the season on the home court was with Maine. A typical Aggie team stepped onto the floor that night and played both a heady and flashy game and when the gun announced the end of the game every Aggie regular had counted from the floor once. Following this game came the appearance of Springfield College with a championship five and they were held to their lowest score.

Up in Williamstown a large prom crowd were given a treat to be sure, in seeing a great Aggie team come from behind and overshadow the "collegiate purple" with the best basketball of the season. A real defense and a successful offence proved beyond a doubt that a position defence can be played on any floor and the Aggies know how to play it. "Blondie" Thomas led the scoring with five baskets ably assisted by Capt. "Rollie" Reed and "Freddie" Ellert, whose scores came at the so-called psychological moments. Featuring at the other end of the court were "Linc" Murdough, "Squash" McEwen, and "Ray" Mann with the result that the noted Williams forwards contented themselves with looking on. This victory marked the fourth defeat of Williams in four successive years.

Again the Aggies rose to the peak of their form and conquered a well primed Worcester Tech team with a brilliant second half offense. Champs they were that night and played Tech off their feet. Captain "Rollie" Reed gave all present a treat with his six long shots in the second half. It was "Rollie's" night and a great one. "Blondie" came in for a large share of credit with four baskets and providing his prominent opponent an evening which turned out to be busier than successful. The team worked as a unit and "Freddie" Ellert turned in some fine passing along with his usual bag of tricks. The story of the defense is best told by the fact that Tech scored only eight times from the floor.

"Linc" Murdough, and "Squash" McEwen capably assisted by Ray Mann, took care of the back court in suitable fashion all season. The average number of baskets scored against Aggie was nine per game and makes their achievement worthy of mention. Captain "Rollie" Reed led in individual scoring and was followed by "Blondie" Thomas. "Squash" McEwen from his guard position, scored enough to bring him in third in this respect. At the end of the season "Rollie" Reed was presented with the George Henry Richards Memorial Cup for Improvement.

Next year "Freddie" Ellert will be the only representative from this season's regular five. Along with him will be "Ray" Mann who got into most of the games this season and "Andy" Coukos who played so well again at Harvard this year. The Doctor Dentons extend best wishes to "Freddie" Ellert to lead Aggie to the top as representing the peer in Intercollegiate Basketball.

Military at M. A. C.

SINCE M. A. C. is a land grant college, the college and this department started together, in 1867, and the Military Department is an integral part of the college life.

Professor Goodell was the first military instructor. He later became President of M. A. C., and in 1870 the first Army instructor came. This was Captain H. E. Alvord, and the drill was Artillery. Later it became Infantry, then during the World War the cadet corps became a Student Army Training Corps, and in 1920 a Cavalry unit of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps.

The frame stable built at that time was destroyed by fire in 1925 and was replaced by a nice concrete block stable which is one of the show places of the campus.

The cavalry drill has stimulated interest in the cadet corps so that about twenty-five percent of each class elect to continue the course in the Junior and Senior years. It also offsets to a large extent the "inalienable right of the under classman to growl" at being required to take military for two years.

There are a number of interesting things going on in the Military Department besides the prescribed course of instruction. All classes are involved in the Guidon Competition for which a silk guidon is given to the troop having the best record in drill, shooting, riding, and general excellence in military subjects. The Stowell cup is presented annually to the Junior who makes the greatest improvement in horsemanship during the year. The Hughes Cup is in competition for the first time this year. It is presented by Captain Dwight Hughes, Jr., Assistant P. M. S. & T. 1922-1926, to the Senior or Junior who shows the most interest in extra-drill riding. The Night Ride, really one of the best sporting events in New England, is a matter of annual Senior competition, and is the only R. O. T. C. Night Ride held in the country. The fact that a four hundred mile march to Fort Ethan Allen, Vermont and back is required at the end of the Junior year does not keep it from being a glorious trip for those who have to go and for the few volunteers and guests each year.

Then, of course, the whole department, instructors, cadets, horses, and all, enjoy showing what they can do on High School Day and at Commencement.

Riding classes are held for the Faculty, the Staff and the Co-Eds. There are rifle teams competing with colleges all over the country, R. O. T. C. teams, Student teams, and Co-Ed teams. The Amherst Horse Show of which we are very proud is managed by the Military Department. In addition to showing horses at home, students show horses at the Northampton and Mount Holyoke Shows. M. A. C. horses also accumulated ribbons and trophies in 1927 at the Hartford, New Haven, Springfield, and Turkey Hill Horse Shows.

We drill when it's hot, we study when it's not,

We get all sweaty parading in the sun,

This uniform we earn while tactics we learn,

But after all it's quite a lot of fun.

The Musical Clubs

CONVENTION demands that a write-up of this kind be most eulogistic. The writer must enumerate all those persons who have contributed to the glorious success of the organization. Mention must be made of those incidents, interesting or otherwise, which occurred during the concerts. And above all, no mention must be made of the fact that the club is not as good as it should be.

Occasionally, however, there will come a time when the truth may be told, without elasticity of conscience. This year is among those times. The Musical Clubs have had a good season this year. Under the able direction of Mrs. Arthur B. Beaumont, the Glee Club developed into a strong organization, and with "Red" Marsh as a very efficient leader, the club proved itself capable of satisfying the most critical of audiences. Mr. M. H. Cubbon coached the orchestra and as a result of his work combined with the leadership of "Rocky" Smith, the orchestra became a very satisfactory unit.

The number of "special acts" on the program was not as great as in previous years—but "Dave" Nason, with his trumpet, "Dutch" Ansell with his dancing, Don Tiffany with his dependability as a piano soloist, and "Jack" Guenard, with his banjo—contributed a very great deal to the success of every appearance.

The Quartette composed of "Jack" Quinn, "Blondy" Thomas, "Red" Marsh and Don Tiffany made a tremendous hit whenever they appeared. During the latter part of the season "Ham" Nelson took the place of "Blondy" Thomas, who could not remain with the Glee Club because of the basketball season.

Probably the only criticism which could be justly directed at the Glee Club was that there was not enough variation in the program. A little more contrast in the grouping of the songs might have been desirable.

The Girls' Glee Club

THE Girls' Glee Club has completed its third year as a recognized college organization. This year it has been managed by F. Dorothea Williams '28. Guila Hawley '29 has been the leader of the club for the past season. Lora Batchelder '28, our excellent pianist, ends her career with the club this year. Mrs. Arthur B. Beaumont, the coach of the club, has trained the various groups.

The personnel of the Girls' Glee Club is made up of twenty-four girls from all four classes; the juniors and freshman make up the largest groups in the organization.

The club has had a good schedule this year. Many concerts have been given, and the season has been very successful. The programs presented, with slight variations, have been the same for each concert. They have consisted of college songs and three groups of six selected songs by the entire group and two numbers by the double trio and single trio.

Solos have been rendered by Josephine Panzica '28. Piano solo by Lora Batchelder '28, and a piano duet by Lora Batchelder and Esther Perkins has added a novelty to the club. The clarinet solo and reading of the negro verse by Eleanor Caldwell '29 have helped give variety to the program. The old fashioned dancing by Esther Perkins and Edith Bertenshaw has been very popular; the Spanish Dance and Arkansas Traveler, by Josephine Panzica and Dorothea Williams has added color to the program. The three jazz numbers with their colorful costumes have been adjudged the "hit of the program".

Debating

WITH only one member of last year's team remaining, it was with by no means an encouraging outlook that debating got under way last fall. Yet the relatively large number of men who started in on the preliminary practice, compensated for the lack of veteran material in a certain measure.

It was, however, after all an essentially green team that received a decisive defeat at the hands of an experienced, aggressive team at Clark University on the thirteenth of March. The team consisted of Kreienbaum, Crowley, and Goldberg. Smarting under this defeat, the two-man team, consisting of Crowley and Goldberg, which met Springfield College on March 23, succeeded in winning a 3 to 0 decision, on the negative of the question, the affirmative of which they had upheld at Clark,—the abandonment of the policy of protection of foreign investments of American citizens by armed force. The next debate, held at M. A. C. on March 5, was a non-decision affair with the University of Vermont. Goldberg, Marcus, and Crowley upheld the affirmative of the proposition, Resolved, that the Philippines be granted their independence, subject to a Platt Amendment, within five years. On March 10, the M. A. C. team, composed of Crowley, Marcus, and Goldberg, won an undivided decision here at Amherst in a debate with the representatives of the University of Maine. There still remain two debates, both of them here at Amherst, and both of them on the question of protection of foreign investments by armed force.

Turning to the work of the Freshmen, we find that a small group made up of Frank T. Douglass, Zoe E. Hickney, Arnold W. Olsson, and Leopold H. Takahashi, has been persistently working since the middle of the fall term. Their defeat at the hands of the Williston Academy team in the dual debate held on March 3, was due not to their own weakness, but to the greater strength of the opposition. To James Cunningham, who directed the Freshmen during the fall work, and especially to Dennis Crowley, under whose guidance they have continued their work, much credit must be given.

It is not alone through individual effort that the great improvement which the debators have shown has been achieved. A large proportion of it is to be attributed to the patient criticism and sound advice which the coach, Professor Walter E. Prince, has at all times given.

The Roister Doisters

THE Roister Doisters this year have maintained the high standing set by the Dramatics Club in previous years.

The Prom Show for 1927 was a mystery play "In the Octagon" by Professor Rand. It was based on college life and was well adjusted for presentation by a college dramatics group. Professor Rand's directing did much to bring out fully the possibilities of the plot. It is rather difficult to say who had the leading part, since the honors were fairly well divided among Neil C. Robinson, Maxwell H. Goldberg, and Henry W. Jensen. There was no leading lady. The play was presented at Deerfield Academy and at Northfield Seminary, before large audiences. At college the presentation was so well received that the play was given again to conclude the High School Day Program.

The 1927 Commencement Play was "Captain Applejack." In view of the difficulties under which this was staged, and the short time in which it was prepared, it was a decided success. Neil G. Robinson stood out as the leading man portraying the dual part of a pirate Captain Applejack and an English gentleman, Ambrose Applejohn. Hilda Goller showed great versatility in portraying Madam Valeska, a Russian dancer, a Portuguese captive, and a woman of the underworld. They were well supported by the other members of the cast to whom great credit is due.

The 1927 "Aggie Revue" provided the usual round of fun and entertainment. A freshman play "The Truth Will Out" and a skit "Mother's Mistake" were coached by Maxwell Goldberg and were well received by the audience. "Red" Morrison, The Campus Quartet, and Bates' Collegians were among the headliners.

This year the Prom Show is to be the "The Youngest" by Philips Barry.

The Collegian

ONCE more the MASSACHUSETTS COLLEGIAN has climbed to a place of honor and is now recognized by most students as one of the most worthwhile of the academic activities. The struggle to regain its lost supremacy has been going on for over four years, but now the publication has been elevated to a place worthy of its name.

The culmination of this comeback is due to a large extent to the cooperation between the Editorial and Business Boards. The men who have held the executive positions on these Boards during the past year were all taken on in their freshman year and, therefore, rose side by side to their present offices. Ernest L. Spencer and Ellsworth Barnard of the Editorial Board and Edwin A. Wilder of the Business Board have been responsible to some extent for the present rating of the publication.

Several new features have made their appearances in its columns during the past year. The most noticeable is the column devoted to the Bull Pen, a department developed and managed by Harold E. Clark, as a continuation of the Cider Press. The box devoted to the Outstanding Performance of each week has created much interest among the students. The Faculty Department has been expanded so that now the women members are interviewed and consulted as well as the men.

In the Business Department the most noteworthy change has been made in the circulation division. Under the present system students may secure their copies at the office on the days of issue instead of waiting three or four days for mail delivery. A change has also been noticed in the number of outside subscriptions which goes to show that the campus activities are being followed by a large number of alumni.

During the past year the Editorial Board has successfully undertaken four feature issues. The first, a rotogravure issue, was published last Commencement. The other three were all new undertakings and reflected much credit to the Board. They consisted of the Presidential Inauguration issue, a special faculty issue, and a Leap Year Number. The last two of these features were published during the winter term.

The past year has been outstanding in the history of the Collegian because of the personnel of the Editorial and Business Boards. Neither Board was compelled to drop any of its members because of ineligibility produced by inefficiency in studies, a record unique in the history of the publication. This goes to show that the Collegian is able to elect its new members from the student body as a whole instead of being forced to elect from a chosen few.

THE primary purposes of the Index are two: the first to be an index of all the activities, athletic and academic, on the campus and the second to be original and interesting. In the first we have succeeded. As to the second, well, we leave that to you.

Each year as a new Index Board comes into existence many and varied are the plans which are being aired, concerning the novel ways in which their year-book can be made the best ever. About Christmas time the ardor of the members of the board has somewhat cooled, in fact one might almost say that it has become frigid, and from then on originality becomes a matter of minor importance. This year, in an attempt to show originality, we have tried something which has never been done by any Index board before; we have abolished the usual form of write-up for the members of the Junior Class and have substituted another. There are also several other innovations, such as an elaboration of the statistics regarding the Freshmen and the inclusion of material from the Inkhorne.

After all is said and done, just what is the value of publishing a college annual? The value is threefold: in the first place it gives the undergraduates of the institution an insight into the comparative values of all of the activities which are going on; in the second place it acquaints the faculty, not only with those professors with whom an opportunity for daily contact does not present itself, but also with those students who are active in fields of interest about the campus who do not directly affect certain members of the faculty; and finally it presents to the alumni of the college a summary of all that has been accomplished during the year. In these three ways our present yearbook has certainly fulfilled its purpose and now it is about to be subjected to the greatest test of any college publication; namely, the criticism of the students. If this Index is not a good one you may all have guilty consciences, for it is a book representing the class of 1929, and you are members of that class.

And now, to conclude, we are presenting to you an Index over which we have spent many a weary hour; into which we put the very best which we could offer; on which rests our only claim to fame. We hope that is the kind of a book in which you may take pride, the kind of a book which will be vividly remembered, "Lest we forget, lest we forget."

1929 Index Characters

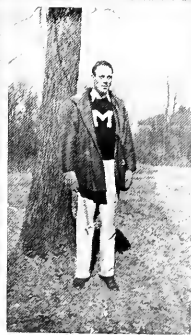

"MANY are called, but few are chosen" expresses very aptly the feeling which overcame us, when we were confronted with the task of selecting class characters. And task it was! Picture, if you can, a class all of whose members are outstanding. Then imagine yourselves called upon to choose a certain few to stand out more especially.

We herewith set forth our class characters. In presenting them to you, we maintain that they are but the prototypes of the class as a whole. Accept them as such. And you who cannot see wherein justice has been done in all cases, consider the difficulties which faced us in this big undertaking, and reflect upon the maxim, "There ain't no justice anyhow."

The Inkhorne

THE Inkhorne was organized and remained under the surveillance of the Academics Activities Board the winter of 1927. There was a group of modest writers who wished to gather, that they might subject their work to group criticism; which allows for a more sound basis and constructive advance than an individual's judgment; that they might form a literary fellowship which would serve as a bulwark of encouragement when failure follows failure. Even though the failure may be one of the ultimate steps toward success, in a college where art is rather overwhelmed by science, it is often more than the individual's courage can bear to stand the buffetings of defeat. So the individuals have joined in fellowship of industry and fraternity of spirit that none aspiring may be unduly daunted. The group has been further inspired by the graciousness of the following who have opened their homes to it: Professor Frank P. Rand, Professor Charles H. Patterson, Professor Walter E. Prince, Professor Frank A. Waugh, Professor Laurence R. Grose, Professor Edna L. Skinner, Mr. Alfred Nicholson, Mr. Walter Dyer, and Miss Elizabeth Hallowell.

As a result of this banding together, the members of the Inkhorne have found delight in progress in the art of writing. It is a delight such as may rise in any venture, as, after arduous labor, successive stepping stones are passed over. After various and numbered attempts at rhyming and rhythm, the group members feel a greater tolerance and a keener appreciation for the work of others; and have succeeded in developing a degree of literary expression. Twice in recognition of excellent work the best manuscripts of a year have found their way to print.

As this 1929 Index has emphasized the aims and accomplishments of the Division of the Humanities it is fitting that the best works of the year along literary lines should appear in the pages of this book.

The aim of the Inkhorne group is to seek and record in excellent literary form, beauty in the common, everyday things of life, and to go forth from the group with a certain culture of their own making, and a lively interest which they may carry with them through life.

DOROTHY M. COOKE

Epilogue

THE task is completed. The Index is done. And we, who have been privileged to guide this—our yearbook—through the vicissitudes entailed in the struggle for publication— can now drop our pens, sit back, wipe our gleaming brows, and mouth wordless phrases of unutterable relief.

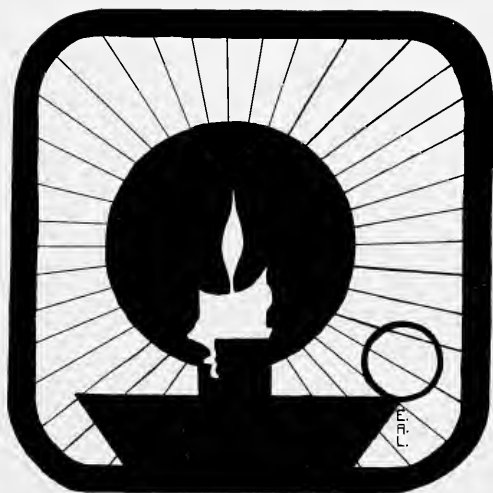

And so we give this volume to you—our classmates and you may sit in judgment upon us—but don't let us hear you.

There has been pleasure in the formulation of this book—the pleasure arising from creative work, whether it be the erection of a cathedral, the planning of a great park, the delicate construction of a cello, or the publication of an Index.

Just one last word before you close the covers of this tome—for so it sometimes seemed to us. If one of you has been slighted, the slight was unconscious. If your virtues have not been sufficiently emblazoned—deepest apologies. If there has been any grievous omission, we plead for forgiveness. Remember that when, in twenty years, as you dreamily ruffle the pages of this Index your memories will be too golden to perceive the dross of failure in our yearbook. Criticism will be dulled and judgment kinder, then.

And now
